HIS PASTOR'S FITTING WORDS

The remains of the late Isaac W. Knowles were laid to rest today in Riverview cemetery, the service being held at 2 o'clock from the late residence on Fifth street.

The services were in charge of Rev. Dr. Clark Crawford, of the First M. E. church, of which the deceased had been a member since his youth. A quartet composed of Miss Millicent Thompson, Mrs. L. W. Healy, Chas. Peterson and Robert L. Foutts, with Prof. Wm. Thompson as accompanist, sang in a very touching manner "Thou Art My Hiding Place, O Lord," after which Rev. Dr. Crawford read a number of appropriate selections. A solo, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," was sung by Miss Millicent Thompson in her inimitable manner.

Rev. Dr. Crawford took his text from Heb. 11:4, "He being dead yet speaketh." He said in part:

"The name of Isaac W. Knowles for almost three quarters of a century has been a household word in East Liverpool and the country surrounding it. His person and life had become truly a vital factor in the history and development of this entire community. When, therefore, the word came that he was no more upon the earth, this was the sentiment expressed: 'An old and honored pioneer is gone.'"

"We find in the forest an analogy. There stands one of those monarchs of the olden time. Strong, majestic, of large and noble mien, it bears upon its aged form the air of ancestral and personal dignity and worth. But when at last the crashing storm lays it prostrate upon the earth men mourn, saying, 'Behold, an ancient landmark has been removed.' Thus it is with some lives. They have stood long, growing in the soil of domestic, social, business and civic life about them. From the childhood of the younger generation they have been speaking to that generation out of volumes of the past, bringing forth from it lessons of instruction and admonition. When one who has occupied such a position dies, there is not only a sense of loss that is general, but one that is intense and personal. He is missed. The family misses him; the office misses him; the outside business world misses him; the community misses him.

"The virtues of our brother were of such a nature and the benefits which individuals and the community received from his beneficent life were so large and precious that it is highly fitting we should make public recognition of his rich service now closed. It is often said that republics are ungrateful, and certainly there have been many painful instances showing that the service of good and useful men may be forgotten. The presence here, however, of so large and representative a body of citizens, together with the pronouncement of the manufacturing potters and the spontaneous utterances of the people in general are our city's testimony to the character and labor of Isaac W. Knowles.

"To a multitude the world is not quite so bright now that he has left it; yet it is far brighter because he passed through it. It is a duty to publicly recognize and judiciously praise the virtues of good citizens. But, in addition to the duty of confession and recognition there is the privilege of learning and of instruction. Every truly effective and helpful life is a book from which to read. If we are wise we will seek to know the principles which have actuated men who have lived well. The value of the scriptural biographer is not that they tell us of faultless lives, but that as we read they discover to us the strong faith, the holy purpose and the sterling character of those who are wedded to duty, to righteousness, to noble achievement.

"As we are gathered today to pay respect to the memory of the one who stood for years as a patriarch of the people, there is an opportunity to learn. The one question of the hour is, What instruction does this fruitful life minister? Many lessons are suggested, of which they who have known him intimately and for a long period might speak more lucidly.

"The city press has set forth in excellent outline the salient points in Brother Knowles' honorable career. You are there told something of his ancestry. When and where he was born, when and of whom he learned his trade, how he abandoned that trade and embarked in business which proved to be the tide that led on to fortune. While such statistics and facts are significant they do not give us the full measure of such a life as our brother lived ere God took him. We have not expressed such a life when we repeat the dates of birth, marriage, business enterprises and death. If one has truly lived, the finest and divinest part of his life is unseen, unknown to the world.

"In the erection of that temple he began well. When a boy of 13 years he felt the pressure of religious duty. He heard the call of God and dedicated himself to Christian living. That Isaac W. Knowles laid at the very basis of his life-temple Christian business integrity does not admit of a doubt, for if the surest test of integrity is the actual life, then Brother Knowles was an honest man. If I may judge by strong words from his own lips and by the universal testimony of those closely identified with

MUSICIAN'S IDEA

TURNED TO ACCOUNT AND A PATENT SECURED.

George Mackey Has an Invention Which Cornetists Will Appreciate.

George Mackey, the well known cornetist of Manley's band, has taken out letters patent on an invention, known as an air tube in a cornet, which will afford clearer and more satisfactory musical notes on a cornet, and makes the matter of playing and blowing such an instrument much easier. The scale can be run more distinctly and higher notes are possible also under the new invention.

The improvement is one which has long been a study with Mr. Mackey, and he has at last perfected the idea, and will have the instrument manufactured and placed on the market, and it will undoubtedly be eagerly sought for by cornetists and musicians all over the country. Especially is the new tube desirable in sounding "C" note, which can be done without the operation of the two valves which shuts off a good deal of the air in passage through the tube, and a clear, sweet higher "C" note is also possible.

Mr. Mackey has devoted considerable time to his invention before he perfected it. He is a musician of more than ordinary ability, and his new idea is bound to meet with favor throughout the entire country.

CITY EMPLOYEE FINED

He Claimed to Have Been Doped and Robbed—Given $1 and Costs.

Doped and robbed was the experience of Simon Haight, the janitor at the city hall, last night, according to his statement. It was while under the influence of the dope that he was arrested by Officer Woods in the vicinity of Thompson place. His head was expanded beyond its normal size this morning when taken before the mayor. The mayor told him that he hated very much to fine an employee, but he could see no way out of it. Haight's wife was present at the hearing and said that she would pay the fine of $1 and costs for her husband, but would never do so again.

The mayor recommended that Simon drink no more booze, but that gentleman insisted that spirituous liquids only would stay well on his stomach.

Robert Waters, for resisting Officer Woods, and James Beazel, for being drunk, were fined $1 and costs each.

The hawk was in a wire cage and was exceedingly vicious. It attracted a great deal of attention.

A LIVE QUESTION IS THE CODE ISSUE

Senator Connell Desires to Learn
What Legislation East Liverpool People Want.

WILLING TO MEET THEM

And Receive Their Instructions—Hon.
R. W. Taylor Discusses the Question—Likes Governor Nash's Home Rule Ideas.

The municipal code question, important to all Ohio towns and cities, is being much discussed in East Liverpool at Present. Should the bill now being drafted by Governor Nash become a law, East Liverpool will be the only city in Columbiana county, and will have registration laws and all laws applicable to other cities.

Senator C. C. Connell, interviewed at Lisbon, today, said he was desirous of learning what the people of this city desire in the way of legislation to secure good government. As soon as he received a draft of Governor Nash's bill, he would be glad to meet the citizens of East Liverpool at any time and place to be designated, get their views, and do his best toward securing the desired legislation. The idea is favored by several prominent citizens, and it is quite likely the senator will be invited to come here and exchange views at a public meeting.

Hon. Robert W. Taylor, of Lisbon, arrived in the city last evening for the purpose of attending the funeral of Isaac W. Knowles.

When questioned upon the political outlook in the nation he said that it was bright for the Republicans. "I confidently look for the election of a Republican congress the coming fall," said he. "The people are in no humor for a change, are satisfied with existing prosperity and want to see it continued. They have not forgotten the dark days that followed the election of the last Democratic congress."

Speaking of a congressman's life and experiences, Mr. Taylor remarked that congress had a singular effect upon some of its members. For instance, a man who may have been distinguished as a brilliant orator and a pushing, energetic citizen at home, may enter the halls of the national legislature and never be heard from afterward.

"I know several gentlemen, distinguished as local orators and brilliant campaigners who seldom make a speech in congress, and rarely open their mouths except to vote on any question. On the other hand, men who have been noted at home for diffidence frequently push to the front and make themselves conspicuous in congress."

Asked as to the work of the legislature in the coming extra session Mr. Taylor remarked:

"The legislature is confronted by difficult and important questions, and I am inclined to think that its session is likely to be a long one.

"The question of municipal government in Ohio cities certainly presents great and grave problems. It is a matter, however, which attracts little attention in small towns, and I have not given much thought to the questions presented. Governor Nash is doing heroic work, and the best of his ideas and sentiments and those of his advisers will probably be engrafted upon the code bill when it is enacted. I strongly approve of his position, as I understand it, that the police of our cities should be removed as far as possible from the sphere of politics.

"In county offices and for mayors of cities it is generally better to have Republicans than Democrats, for the reason that the Republican party generally puts up better men than the Democrats. But, when it comes to police appointments, men should be chosen without regard to their political affiliations and solely with regard to their fitness. The police are merely the physical arm of the law. To be respected they must have but one object, to preserve order and do their duty fearlessly. The farther the control of the police of a city can be removed from politics the better for the public interests and protection.

"I believe strongly in home rule for municipalities and trust that the legislature will do its best to frame laws that will apply throughout Ohio and rid the state of pernicious special legislation enacted for partisan ends."

PLEADED GUILTY AND WAS FINED

Harry Golding Arrested on a
Charge of Stealing Old Junk.

WAS CAUGHT IN THE ACT

The Material Taken Was From the Old Specialty Glass Works, Where
Such Work has been Going on For
Some Time.

With the charge of larceny against him, Harry Golding, late of the exposition carnival company, which disbanded in this city during the week of the Fourth of July, was introduced to Mayor Davidson, this morning by Officer Auferheide.

The officer arrested the young man at 9 o'clock a. m., after waiting three hours for the chance, and it was with an exultant gleam darting from his eyes that he walked into the court with his prisoner and claimed evidence to convict.

"I caught him in the very act," said the corpulent policeman. "I have been employed for several years as watchman at the plant of the Specialty Glass company, and not until recently was there anything disturbed about the plant. Yesterday I noticed that some things had been removed, and decided to institute a watch. This morning I went down to the place at 6 o'clock, and was there only a few minutes when I saw Golding and a partner approach with a horse and wagon.

"Wishing to catch them red handed, I allowed them to load the wagon, and then started after them. One of them ran away, but Golding stayed on the wagon. The wagon was heavily loaded, and I did not have much trouble in apprehending him."

John Manor, president of the company, was sent for, and he preferred a charge of larceny against Golding, swearing that he had stolen iron fixtures to the value of $28. The value of the junk was really more than assessed, but Mr. Manor stated he did not want the young man sent to the penitentiary, and only wanted to use him as an example.

To the charge Golding pleaded not guilty, and he was placed under a $50 bond for his appearance at 2 o'clock next Monday afternoon. He did not deny having the iron in his possession, but denied having stolen it, claiming that he bought it from a young man with a smooth face and reddish hair.

Golding asked for another arraignment this afternoon and pleaded guilty to the charge. He was fined $10 and costs.

ALLEYS NOW PAVED

NEEDED WORK DONE AT PROP-RIETARY OWNERS' EXPENSE.

Contractors Puzzled to Get Enough
Laborers on Account of Prevailing Sickness.

The three alleys at the rear of Sixth street and between Market and Broadway are now paved and present a very respectable appearance. The work was done through the efforts and at the expense of the abutting property owners. Contractor Ryan, who did the work, states that since the order of council was issued making it compulsory that those notified pave their sidewalks he and all of the rest of the contractors have had more work than they can attend to.

"If we could get more help," said he, "we would be in a better shape to handle the fast increasing orders. We never have the same crew at work two days in succession. We never know who is going to appear for work. It seems that they are attacked with a sickness which is prevalent. Most of them complain of stomach trouble, and I suppose it is due to drinking water when they are warm."

A physician corroborates the statement in regard to the sickness. He said that there is more sickness in the city at the present time than he ever knew before at this time of the year. He also credited it to the drinking of water.

GROCER'S TEAM'S DASH

Ended at the Wharfboat In Wreck and Other Damage.

The delivery team belonging to George Mayhew, the Fourth street grocer, ran away on Market street at noon today, the horses taking fright while the driver, Edward Rose, was absent delivering goods. They started at breakneck speed down Market street, turned the corner at Second street and continued their flight up that thoroughfare, causing great excitement to on-lookers.

Down over the Broadway wharf they flew, and finally brought up against the wharfboat, breaking the forward part of the wagon, pole, and losing one of the wheels. One of the horses, which was a fine team of blacks, was badly bruised and injured, and both horses were with difficulty gotten out of the water.

Had it not been that the wharfboat was directly in their path, both animals would have been drowned. As it is the damage is considerable.

TRIED TO RUN THE CAR

A CONDUCTOR FILES CHARGES AGAINST A PASSENGER.

William Frey Got Thrown Off and Will Get Arrested For
His Actions.

When apprehended William Frey will have an opportunity to answer to the mayor for his alleged actions on a street car last night enroute to this city from Wellsville. The car was in charge of Conductor D. A. Woodward and Motorman Elwood Clager.

Woodward filed a charge this morning against Frey of disorderly conduct and using profane language. He was arrested by Officer Dunn when the car reached Union street, but was released owing to the fact that there was no written charge against him.

The conductor stated that Frey, with a lady and gentleman friend, boarded the car at Third street, Wellsville, and that from the time they placed their feet on the steps until Frey was arrested, all acted in a most disgraceful manner.

"The woman," he said, "was drunk, and acted disgracefully, and her friends were not far behind."

Frey, it was alleged, after swearing, howling and hooting loud enough to be heard a mile, finally made an attack on the motorman, attempting to get a hold on the controller to run the car to suit himself. He also rang up several fares. At Union street Woodward threw him to the ground, and he had difficulty in pulling himself together. The mayor has heard of many similar occurrences of late, and intends to give all such offenders the full extent of the law.

OUT THE BOULEVARD

Building Operations Are Brisk—Many
New Residences
Going Up.

Thompson boulevard is enjoying quite a building boom as a number of fine residences are building, and quite a number of others are in contemplation. W. H. Vodrey is grading his lot next to J. C. Thompson's place, and will erect a fine new residence. J. C. Fulton has completely remodeled and modernized the old Armstrong home-stead, on the extension of Thompson boulevard out the Calcutta road.

Willis Gaston's new residence is making fine progress in Matthew Anderson's addition, and the foundation for the new palatial home of Prof. W. L. Thompson is building, and a great deal of material for the structure is now on the ground.

MRS. M'KINLEY'S THANKS

For a Floral Tribute Extended to East
Liverpool People.

Citizens of this city well remember the token of sympathy displayed in a floral offering that was sent to Canton last fall a few days before President McKinley was buried. Some may have forgotten this fact, but Mrs. McKinley did not. Yesterday there was received in this city by William Ralph Scraggs a letter, written upon mourning paper, as follows:

"Mrs. McKinley and the members of the president's family gratefully acknowledge your sympathy with them, in their bereavement so tenderly expressed by your beautiful tribute of flowers on the occasion of his funeral."

The letter was mailed at Washington, D. C., Tuesday.

FATAL ENDING SEEMED SURE

Runaway Team and Driver Dashed Madly Down Hill to Railroad Track.

COLLIDED WITH A BOX CAR

James McMillen Had Shoulder
Dislocated and Was Otherwise Hurt.

BURIED BENEATH DEBRIS.

James McMillen, a teamster living on Lincoln avenue, had a most thrilling experience and narrow escape from death this morning at about 10 o'clock.

He was driving his team down Walnut street with a load of casks, which were to be shipped by the Burford Pottery company, when the horses became frightened near Fourth street and started on an awful run down the steep hill. In vain he pulled and tugged at the bits in the mouths of the frenzied animals, and was again thwarted when he attempted to apply the big lock. For a reason not known it failed to work. With this drawback the horses could not have checked the wagon had they so desired.

Notwithstanding that McMillen could see nothing but death or destruction staring him in the face, he would not desert the team, which incidentally, it is said, he loves better than himself, but held on tightly to the reins, fighting against fate. Gaining in speed from the first jump, the horses and wagon were splitting the air like unto a runaway locomotive, when the bottom of the hill was reached and there was nothing for the driver to do but sit and take the worst.

When the freight station was reached he attempted, by pulling heroically on one line, to swerve the wagon's course, but to no avail. Like a shot the horses passed, and before the spectators, a hundred or more having assembled all along, were able to make a prediction, the horses and wagon crashed into a heavy box car and with the result that the driver and horses were badly injured, and the front part of the wagon smashed into smithereens.

Following the crash loud moans were heard coming from the midst of the debris and as was expected, several who ran to the scene, found McMillen tightly crushed between the car and wagon. He was extricated, but not without the use of bars, and taken at once to the station.

Dr. W. J. Taylor made a thorough examination of the man's wounds, finding that he had received a terrible blow on the neck; that his right arm was dislocated; his breast severely bruised and torn and that his forehead was cut but not seriously.

After replacing the shoulder and giving other treatment the physician ordered that the sufferer be taken to his home in the patrol wagon, where he now lies suffering awfully but with hopes of recovery.

TO AMUSE CHILDREN

Mrs. Jacobs Explains in Justice's Court
Why She Carried a Hatchet.

Squire McLane's court presented a business appearance today. The case of the state against Mrs. Henry Jacobs occasioned the assemblage of a large crowd and the testimony offered was exceedingly entertaining. Mrs. Jacobs strongly denied that she had threatened any one's life and stated that she only carried the hatchet to amuse the children with it. She alleged that all of her neighbors have been treating her shamefully and stated that if the law would not do something with them she would.

At 3 o'clock the case was still on and the result cannot be ascertained until late this evening.

Hurt By a Fall.

M. K. Carroll, employed at the Wallace & Chetwynd pottery, this morning fell from a scaffold about the new decorating kiln. A portion of the scaffold also fell, striking Carroll on the right leg. The flesh just above the knee was torn considerably and the attention of a physician was required. Carroll was removed to his home on Pennsylvania avenue in the ambulance.

THEIR CONFIDENCE WAS MISPLACED

Visitors From Parkersburg Expected to Win With Ease Yesterday.

ONE INNING FIXED THEM

Their Crack Pitcher Went in the Air. Five Runs By East Liverpool at the Start Virtually Decides the Contest. An Exciting Game.

That invincible aggregation of ball players who hail from the hills of West Virginia, in close proximity to Parkersburg, met a Waterloo yesterday afternoon in West End park.

Having experienced so little trouble in doing Manager Walsh's men at the last meet, about five weeks ago, the visitors went into the game with the self-assurance that they would have a walkover. They even boasted before the game was called of what easy marks they were going to mix with, of how they would have two more victories to add to their already long list. A different song floated on the warm air last night from their hotel room.

It was all done in one inning. The first was enough. Five big runs. They looked to the visitors like a range of the Appalachian system. What could they do after such a lead was gained? As far as victory was concerned, they never even entertained such a thought. All they endeavored to do was to hold the score down in order that a crowd might be present at today's contest.

Myers, their crack pitcher, went in the air for the first time during the season. Hundred pound weights would have had little effect on him. The manner in which he twisted himself when Coleman came to the bat caused an uneasy spell among the locals, and they were a trifle more on the anxious seat when the young man laid his stick over the plate after striking savagely at the vacant air three times. The spell was broken for good, though, when Davis went forward and placed a two-bagger far into right field, Tyson, Fred Heckathorn and Gibson following it with pretty bumps, the game was up.

The villain was in their hands at last. But to make matters worse the poor twirler, who has probably been the recipient of more bouquets than any other man on either team, having won every game that he pitched, even from the Cuban Giants, stepped a notch higher on the ladder and gave the next man his base on four wild ones. The succeeding two ambulated on "fielders' choice," and the scoring was not ended until five dots marked the scorer's book.

At only one time did the far-away youths have a meagre chance. That was in the fifth. They lacked out three runs of saving the score tied and started out as if they meant business, but only for a minute. Winters' curves and his excellent backing were too much for them. They were compelled to lie down and call it a lost cause.

Notwithstanding that Myers went so high in the beginning he did as well as could be expected during the remainder of the battle, and it is an assured fact that he will not get his release before the team returns "down yander."

Fred Heckathorn was the ladies' man in the game with Kent, but he is now taking a back seat. He has turned his position over to Mr. Trainor, if you please. That gentleman was the whole cheese. Running for several hundred yards he fell down in making a grab for one of those skyscrapers. When he finally got himself from a tangle in the horse weeds he had the ball in his mits and that clinched the laurels. He didn't show much embarrassment either when the lassies applauded him. In fact, he acted as though he rather liked it.

Winters pitched a beautiful game. It was the same kind that he always delivers. He has pitched more winning games than any man on the team.

NO NEGLIGENCE

In Miss Steele's Case According to the Township Trustees' Statement.

Regarding the illness of Miss Minnie Steele, the township trustees deny that there was any negligence. Mr. Albright stated this morning that they first heard of the case on Tuesday evening, and gave it immediate attention. On Wednesday they found a place for her and had her removed and placed in a nurse's care. He also stated that she had medical attention just as soon as the trustees were notified, and that the reports to the contrary were circulated evidently by some person prejudiced or misinformed.

James Bloor, at whose home the young lady lived, denies that she had no medical attention for eight days. He said today:

"Miss Steele did not complain of being sick until Friday the 25th of July, and on Saturday morning, before going to work, I sent for Dr. Ogden, who prescribed for her. On Sunday and Monday she was some better; On Tuesday when I went home to dinner she was much worse. I immediately sent for the doctor, who stated she would require constant attention, which I could not furnish, for I have no wife and five children. I furnished a nurse for her Tuesday night, and the next day she was removed. It was utterly impossible for me to attend to the case.

"I came to the conclusion that the best thing that I could do under the circumstances was to notify the township trustees, which I did on Tuesday night. They visited the patient on Wednesday morning, and the township trustees removed Miss Steele about noon. Miss Steele had all the attention that I and the neighbors could give her."

Government Engineer Returns for a Long Overdue Express Package.

J. A. Caldwell, chief of the geological surveying corps which was located in East Liverpool for some weeks, returned to the city last evening, and states that his corps is now working in the vicinity of Brownsville and Charleroi, Pa. Mr. Caldwell's visit was for the purpose of securing an express package which should have arrived at the Adams Express office in this city four or five weeks ago, and as the package contains some valuable government data, he is considerably exercised over its non-arrival.

This is the third trip Mr. Caldwell has made to East Liverpool for the package, and each time has been disappointed. Of course the delay must be somewhere else. There could be nothing wrong with the express service in this city.

EAST END

GREAT IMPROVEMENTS

IN PROGRESS ON OHIO AVENUE
IN THE EAST END.

Fine Residences Lately Built And Numerous Flagstone Pavements Laid.

Ohio avenue in the East End gives promise of being one of the most beautiful streets in that section within the next few years. There is not another street in that part of the city that is being built up more rapidly. During the past week excavating was commenced on this street for the erection of a large brick home for George Smith, a salesman for Knowles', and it is estimated that when completed it will cost $6,000. This residence will be of brick, of a colonial architecture and will be quite an addition to the East End.

During the past six months a number of new residences have been built on this street, all of which are above the ordinary sort of homes that are being built about the city. The work of beautifying this street, which a few years ago, was nothing but a farm, will continue with the constructing of a flagstone sidewalk the entire length of the street. A number of property owners have had these sidewalks placed in front of their residences within the past month, and it is announced that others will do the same. This will make Ohio avenue the only street in the city, the entire length of which contains a flagstone sidewalk.

Mr. Harker was the first to have flagstone placed in front of his property, and then Elijah Mountford followed suit. Walter Supplee and George Smith and other property owners will also place this sort of a sidewalk in front of their property. These little details tend to beautify a street, and Ohio avenue will soon be a thoroughfare of which its residents can well be proud.

PRIZE RING RULES

Adopted By East End Men to Settle a
Dispute Over a Game of Pool.

A fight, under the rules governing contests for which paid admission is asked, took place in the East End last evening just outside the corporate limits, which was for blood, and blood came. The fight was most fierce, blow after blow being struck, so it is claimed by those who said they witnessed the affair. The trouble was brought about in an East End pool room when Robert House and Joe Miller became involved in an argument about a game of pool. One word brought on another and these words brought on a fight, and a fight to the finish it was.

It was agreed that the men should not strike one another while clinched, or when a man was down, and these rules were strenuously lived up to.

Fainting Spells

always indicate a weak heart. They are usually preceded or followed by palpitation or fluttering, and there may be pain in left side, a smothering sensation and shortness of breath. Such a heart should be treated at once, before the disease develops beyond control. Heart disease is as easily cured as other troubles it taken in time.

"I was subject to fainting spells, and many times I have fallen on the street. I was often compelled to sit down while walking to avoid falling. When physicians failed to help me, I took Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and was completely cured."

The number of rounds the men fought are not given, but the report that has been circulated about the affair by those who are reported to have seen the "doings" say the men did not fight just for the fun of the matter. After the battle was over, and in which House is reported to have been the vanquished, the spectators and the fighters returned to the East End. The affair was the talk of the East End this morning.

Robert L., Will Larkins' Race Horse, Came Near Being Killed
on a Train.

Robert L., the race horse owned by Will Larkins of this city, which was entered in the races at Akron during the week, arrived at Columbus park last evening. While on the road to this city the horse came near being killed. With William Humble, of this city in charge, it was loaded at Akron Thursday evening for shipment to this city, and did not arrive here until last evening. The train on which the horse was shipped was wrecked during the trip, and the three cars in the rear of the one in which Robert L. was quartered were smashed. The animal was knocked down, but luckily escaped serious injury. The horse will be kept at Columbus park during the remainder of the season.

Hon. Frank Dunn, Alderman Twenty-Fourth District, writes from 232 East Fifty-Eighth Street, New York City: The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.:

Gentlemen: "There is no remedy for a broken-down system that I know of which will so effectually restore health as Peruna."

"Whenever I am overworked or suffer from the consequences of a cold a few doses of Peruna builds me up again more quickly than anything I ever tried. I find it especially valuable for catarrh. Three bottles cured me three years ago of catarrh of the stomach and I have never had the least symptoms of it since."

A TONIC is a medicine that gives tone to some part of the system. There are different kinds of tonics, but the tonic most needed in this country, where catarrh is so prevalent, is a tonic that operates on the mucous membranes.

Peruna is a tonic to the mucous membranes of the whole body. It gives tone to the capillary circulation which constitutes these delicate membranes.

Peruna is a specific in its operation upon the mucous membrane. It is a tonic that strikes at the root of all catarrhal affections. It gives tone to the minute blood vessels and the terminal nerve fibres. Catarrh cannot exist long where Peruna is used intelligently. Peruna seeks out catarrh in all the hidden parts of the body.

Paul Landrum writing from Atlanta, Ga., says:

"In January last I began the use of your Peruna and Manalin for what was termed organic heart trouble. At that time I could scarcely walk to my place of business without stopping to rest and on arrival felt completely exhausted. Had severe pains in my heart and general dizziness. After using the first bottle of Peruna I began to improve and today I feel that I am a sound man and I work fourteen hours a day without any bad feeling."—Paul Landrum.

A. M. Ikard, an employee of the C. B. & Q. R. R., West Burlington, Ia., writes: "I had catarrh of the stomach and small intestines for a number of years. I went to a number of doctors and got no relief. Finally one of my doctors sent me to Chicago and I met the same fate. They said they could do nothing for me, that I had cancer of the stomach and there was no cure. I almost thought the same, for my breath was something awful. I could hardly stand it, it was so offensive. I could not eat anything without great misery, and I gradually grew worse."

"Finally I got one of your books, and concluded I would try Peruna, and thank God, I found a relief and a cure for that dreadful disease. I took five bottles of Peruna and two of Manalin, and I now feel like a new man. There is nothing better than Peruna, and I keep a bottle in my house all the time."—A. M. Ikard.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

The centennial anniversary of the admission of Ohio into the union comes next year. Preparations are being made to celebrate the event at Chillicothe, which was the state's first capital. The centennial will probably not be the imposing affair that was contemplated a few years ago when a huge appropriation and a small sized world's fair were contemplated. But the occasion can be made great and memorable without these show features. To let the anniversary pass without suitable public observance would be discredit to the oldest and greatest of the states northwest of the Ohio, the mother of presidents, statesmen, warriors, patriots, poets, scientists and men distinguished in every walk of life. It is proposed to celebrate the anniversary in the public schools on March 1, 1903, and to have a centennial commission, appointed by the governor, act in conjunction with the state Archeological and Historical society to arrange for the more formal and elaborate exercises at Chillicothe. This indicates that the event is to be commemorated in the way most fitting by placing historical features foremost. Ohio has made history on a scale which few sections of the union can match, and she has sons capable of writing history that shall live in literature. The coming centennial should be productive of written accounts of the state's struggles and triumphs that are fit to survive and serve as text books for coming generations. No American should consider himself educated unless familiar with the history of his own country and his own state. If the coming centennial proves an incentive to historical research and fosters a desire among the young people who live in Ohio to learn of the past and to study the lives of the men who have made the state great and have left their impress upon the nation, it will serve an admirable purpose. Effort in this line should at once be put forth and not relaxed, and the centennial may result in far more actual benefit than should we seek to advertise its birthday anniversary by an imposing exposition.

One Democratic state convention after another turns its back on Bryan. In time he may come to understand what it all means, though he is usually too busy talking to do much thinking.

Democrats are not boasting so loudly as usual that they are going to carry New York next fall. Their lack of confidence in such a result is shown by the fact that they are experiencing difficulty in finding anybody willing to accept a nomination for governor.

Baldwin, the arctic explorer, has returned from the north, saying his work has been successful. But he got no nearer the pole than former explorers.

Indications multiply that there is warm work ahead for the legislature, without counting weather conditions.

Wait till Bryan recovers his wind after hearing that Michigan Democrats named a gold bug for governor!

Prosperity has overtaken all classes. Even pickpockets are now traveling on Pullman cars.

Richard Croker is developing the habit of retiring from politics between campaigns.

William L. Clark.

The last illness of William L. Clark, the veteran editor of Wellsville, terminated in a peaceful death at 4 o'clock last evening at his home on Main street. Nearly all his living relatives were present when death came. The immediate cause of death was paralysis. William L. Clark spent most of his life in Wellsville. He was born March 22, 1814, at Snow Hill, near Baltimore, and spent his early life there. He was imbued with the spirit of the south, and never faltered in his sympathy for that section. While in Maryland he learned the printers' trade, and his proficiency soon led him to journalism. In those days a knowledge of the stick and case and the manipulation of a hand press was essential to an editor. Mr. Clark had mastered these, and was gifted with literary talent.

Upon his removal to Wellsville in 1832, Mr. Clark worked at his trade, and contributed his literary productions to the Pittsburgh newspapers. In 1845 he acquired the American Patriot, Wellsville's first newspaper, and continued its publication for nearly a quarter of a century. The name of this paper was changed to Wellsville Patriot after he purchased it. It soon became widely known. His fearless editorials, all for the Confederacy, during '61 and '62, provoked the enmity of many, but all admired his courage. A company of soldiers at Salineville, home on a furlough, had heard of Mr. Clark's political views, and started for Wellsville bent on mischief. A circus was exhibiting in the city on that day, and Mr. Clark, armed only with a bundle of tickets, met the soldiers and presented each with a ticket. He was unmolested.

In 1865 Mr. Clark ceased the publication of the Patriot, and since that time, having lived a life of frugality, amassed a snug fortune, he retired from active business. He visited Maryland for a few years, and since that time has lived in this city. He has seen Wellsville develop from a struggling river town to a prosperous city. Few of his old associates here and few of his relatives survive him. The funeral services will take place Monday morning from his late home, Rev. Le-moine C. Wells officiating.

RIVER NOTES.

Fogs have delayed the river steamers considerably the past few nights. The Virginia up last night put off a good many passengers at this point. She also had a big round trip list of passengers.

There is no falling off in the big passenger business of the steamers, which has been noted not only in East Liverpool, but in many of the cities skirting the Ohio. With a continuance of water through August it is expected there would be the greatest amount of travel of this kind ever known. River outings have never been so popular.

A POET'S NOTIONS

About Base Ball, Potteries And Other Current Topics in East Liverpool.

The editor of the Kent Courier, who visited this city with the Kent baseball team last week, has many kindly things to say of East Liverpool in his paper. He also drops into poetry, specimens of which follow:

There's a lovely, hustling town,
East Liverpool.
With potteries scattered all around,
East Liverpool.
Hills and water all are there,
Pottery dust gets in your hair,
But your umpire's on the square,
East Liverpool.

You've got boys who play the game,
East Liverpool.
And they help to bring you fame,
East Liverpool.
There's Curt Welsh, who's gone away,
Carey and Mercer of today,
And there's others, by the way,
East Liverpool.

They've potteries, potteries everywhere,
With pottery dust to make you swear,
It sticks on your shoes and it sticks in your hair.

It gets in your eyes and I do declare—
It comes to the table in broad daylight,

And sneaks in your bed at middle of night.

Those pottery hills they reach up a mile,

You'd think if you tried to climb one awhile.

But those hills are lined with pottery
clay,

And that's the reason they're 'lowed to stay.

They've pottery artists and pottery cranks,

Pottery cigars 'way up in the ranks.

Pottery hotels and places to eat,
Pottery shoes to wear on your feet.

Pottery papers with pottery news,
Pottery experts with pottery views.

Pottery whisky as rana as sin,
Pottery jails to lock you in,

Pottery pavement straight up and down.

Pottery streets that curve around,
Pottery cars that potter along.

Pottery stogies awfully strong,
Pottery steamers that downward float.

And every kind of a pottery boat,
A pottery river all covered with fog.

Pottery wreckage to throw at the dog,
Pottery girls all over the place.

With winsome smiles and handsome face.

Pottery reporters that hustle you bet,
Pottery water that's hardly wet.

Pottery drinks that give you a pain
And make you wish you were in Kent again.

Pottery ball players not all tame,
Pottery players who get in the game.

Pottery rooters who sit on the hills
And let the management settle the bills.

Pottery people who treated us right,
And made our stay one grand delight.

Base ball people reach out glad hand,
No finer than Walsh, Rose or Orr in the land.

May the win all the rest of the games they play.

Unless they meet Kent again some day.

East Liverpool we'll never forget,
Nor Landlord Terry, of the Lakel, you bet.

Old town at the meeting of river and hill,

You have your faults, but you're all right still.

MAD DOG KILLED

An Animal Frothing at the Mouth Slaughtered By Chief Thorn.

Chief Thorn killed a supposed mad dog yesterday. The animal seemingly had been turned out in the streets to die, rather than be muzzled, and exhibited his displeasure by growling and snapping at passersby.

When found near the Mission church the dog was frothing at the mouth and showed other indications of going mad. Chief Thorn shot the animal, which was buried at the city's expense.

Jumped the Track.

The regular Saturday wreck on the Pennsylvania lines took place, as have many others, in Wellsville. Engine 238, the erratic shifter which is only slightly behind 693 in her exploits, jumped the track with two dngola cars near the steel mill boiler house. No one was injured and no damage done. The tool car and crane soon replaced the cars on the track.

Street Poorly Lighted.

John Smith, a milkman, was driving home last evening and near Sixth and Main streets, where a deep ditch has been dug across the street, his horse fell in the ditch. The struggles of the animal brought a large crowd to the scene. Lanterns were secured and the animal was extricated from its position. The ditch, residents verily say, should be lighted better.

Badly Cut His Leg.

G. A. Ashby, of Portland, O., a railroad man, had his leg badly cut while handling freight at the Third street depot last evening. A large quantity of sheet steel was being transferred from a store room to an eastbound freight, and in attempting to carry too heavy a load, Ashby's left leg was cut near the knee with a deep gash.

Tired But Happy.

The young people who attended the Sunday school picnic at Stanton Park, near Steubenville, yesterday, returned last evening tired and happy. Only one thing marred the complete pleasure of the day's outing, and this, those who attended say, was the condition of the park grounds.

Presents Neat Appearance.

The entire Wellsville wrecking outfit at the railroad shops is now resplendent in a new coat of red paint, which was applied yesterday. The cars present a neat appearance, being lettered with white in the new style.

A BLOODY BATTLE.

COLOMBIAN TROOPS AND REBELS ENGAGED.

Truce to Bury Dead, Rebels Having About 200 Killed—Fighting Resumed

Panama, Aug. 2.—The peace commissioners who left here July 29, on the British steamer Cana, to visit the revolutionary General Herrera, near Agua Dulce, returned to Panama at noon yesterday. They informed the representative of the Associated Press that they were unable to fulfill their mission, because a very severe engagement between Herrera's forces and the government troops had been in progress since Tuesday, July 29, when the revolutionary forces began to attack Agua Dulce.

At 5 o'clock Thursday morning the best battalions of the revolutionary forces attacked the government entrenchments with fierce courage. The slaughter of the revolutionists is said to have been excessive and barbarous. The same afternoon the white flag was raised in their camp and they asked for an armistice, during which they could bury their dead. This was granted. The losses of the rebels up to Wednesday, July 30, were reported at over 200, while the government forces had had eight men killed and 11 wounded.

At the expiration of the time of armistice the engagement recommenced with the same fierceness. Nine government battalions which had not taken part in the fight were still being held in reserve Thursday night.

BRICK BUSINESS GOOD

New Cumberland Manufacturers Have a Season of Unprecedented Prosperity.

There never was a time in the history of the paving brick business at New Cumberland that there was such a demand. The factories are unable to supply the market, and the prices are better than for a long time. Some of the brick factories in the vicinity of New Cumberland made handsome profits last year. It is said several factories made sums ranging from $10,000 to $20,000. With the improved facilities for manufacturing and handling brick they can now be manufactured at much less cost than heretofore.

The big Corliss engine and new tunnel dryers which have just been put in at the Black Horse works will make a saving of $10 per day in fuel and labor at that plant, and those who know say the plant will clear $20,000 in a year's time. Some of the small factories along the bend wound up last year's business with profits ranging from $10,000 to $15,000.

CONDITION NOW SERIOUS

The Lad Who Was Bitten By a Snake Is Critically Ill.

Donald Allison, son of Ellsworth Allison, who resides near Asbury chapel, is reported worse this morning from the bite of the copperhead snake. His father was summoned from his work at the mill last night on account of his condition, which is now quite serious.

Hancock County Picnic.

It is expected the Hancock county picnic will be held about the 6th of September. This picnic in the past has been one of the greatest events in the county. Last year a big crowd was in attendance and the occasion

Replevin Suit Begun.

T. R. Cunningham, of Chester, had a replevin suit instituted against Allan G. Meek, a painter, who formerly resided in Cunningham's house on Fairview street. Extensive Improvements.

E. D. Marshall has beautified his fine residence on the river front by a number of improvements, which add to its architectural beauty. A new and spacious porch and a fine bath room have been added and many other improvements made at a cost of $2,500. Harvey McHenry took the contract for $1,900, but extra additions were made.

Good Wheat Crop.

Hay harvesting is about completed in the country districts, and the oats are about ready for cutting. The wheat harvest throughout Hancock and Beaver counties was reported most excellent. The potato crop was also most bountiful and corn will prove plentiful.

Today's Picnic.

The American Structural Iron and Bridgeworkers, of Pittsburg, came in on two special trains this morning on the branch. They have a fine program of special sports. The throng is quite orderly, both at the park and in the city.

Will Test the Territory.

A Good Well.

In the Turkeyfoot extension in Beaver county, Murray & Co. have completed their No. 5 on the Joseph Ramsey farm and have a show for a 2-barrel producer.

New Trial Reported Granted.

It is stated by a New Cumberland authority that E. S. Good has been granted a new trial by the circuit court of appeals at Wheeling, in the first case brought by the state against him, and for which he is now under $100 bond for his appearance and a 60 days in jail sentence pending.

A New Wildcat Well.

R. E. Bradon and others have contracted with Campbell Hutson to drill a well on the John Cameron farm. It looks as though that farm might be good territory. The well will be drilled at once.

A Broken Roll.

A roll was broken on No. 6 mill last night, Ora Griffith being the blooming mill roller in charge. Repairs were made this morning and the mill will resume Monday.

CUMMINS WILL INVESTIGATE.

Iowa Governor to Look Into Law Regarding Rock Island Organization.

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 2.—Governor Cummins announced yesterday that he is investigating the recent reorganization of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway with a view of ascertaining whether the organization is in all respects in harmony with the laws of the state of Iowa. He has not yet conferred with the attorney general, but will do so as soon as the attorney general returns to the city. Governor Cummins stated yesterday that the first question he is inquiring into is as to whether the infusion of capital stock which is contemplated by the reorganization is consistent with the Iowa law. In the second place he desires to know just how far it is lawful for a New Jersey corporation to own and control the property of a railway owned and operated in Iowa. He has not reached a conclusion on either of these questions, and declares that he means to give them a thorough investigation before he decides what his duty toward the new company may be under the premises.

"It may be," he stated, "that the Iowa laws contemplate as much latitude as this company has used, but I doubt it very much."

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

STRUCK POPULAR CHORD.

The News Review has received an interesting communication, which indicates that the residents of this city who take an interest in matters ceramic appreciate the pottery news of this paper. The letter follows: "Your article on an art pottery for East Liverpool was an excellent one, inasmuch as it created quite a good deal of interest. The one objection given is: 'Oh, it has been tried, and does not pay.' Now the honest opinion of the general reader is that if as much attention were given to its success as is allotted to scheme, we would not have to complain of failure. The trouble here is that returns are too quickly desired. If an order comes in all hands are rushed to death until such commission is sent off. You cannot do that with art pottery or the art suffers; as, indeed is too often the case today. Manufacturers already do not give the perfection of detail sufficient attention. Getting the orders away should not be the only item in the bill.

"A small pottery across the river is an exception to this rule, and really seems to have a good many of the elements necessary to the success of an art pottery. It does not profess to produce this ware, of course, but it is generally conceded that for perfection of detail, courtesy to employees and a desire to excel in every branch of the work, this little place would be hard to beat. One great complaint seems to lie in the low prices our manufacturers get for their goods. Surely the remedy for this should be in their own hands. The ruinous system of traveling being allowed to go one lower than a fair selling price to get an order should be stopped in all our interests. A very fine imported vase was seen in an art store some time ago. The artist was known to be then in this country. When the firm owning the store were told this they asked: 'Well, why do they not produce the same article in this country?' We would give them an order for a thousand of the same shape and design.' Yet we are told that home production cannot find a market in this country. Many difficulties would have to be surmounted before an art pottery here would be an accomplished fact. But the unselfish effort of those with means and the enthusiasm of those with practical art talent, would land us a little nearer the goal of our hopes than we are at present, anyhow. Your paper is always willing to help along our city's interests, so we will trust to its columns to find some further hints as to the matter opened up by your writer, to whom our thanks are indeed due.

THE MANUFACTURERS' TURN.

The intended action of the eastern officials of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters in forming new locals in Trenton seems to be most pleasing to the local manufacturers. It has long been contended by the eastern manufacturers that they are paying the same rate of wages to their employees as are paid in the western potteries, but the western manufacturers seem to have thought differently, and the announcement that boys were engaged to do the warehouse work in the Trenton potteries at a salary of from $5 to $8, bears out the thoughts of the western manufacturers. Should Vice President Hutchins be successful in forming the warehousemen and packers of Trenton into a local, he will be doing a work that has long been awaited. One result of this will be a tendency to increase the rate of wages in these departments, and if possible place the eastern shops on an equality with those of the west. In this event it can be rightly said that the eastern manufacturer is then paying the same wages to his packers and warehousemen that his western brother is. The announcement in this paper last night that the two departments were about to be formed into a local met the hearty approval of all pottery workers in this city. It is what has been looked for for months, and one may say for years. Now that it is to become a reality, the more gratifying it is.

JIGGERSMEN VS. FINISHERS.

The jiggersmen at their last meeting took up the complaint entered by the finishers to the effect that some of the jiggersmen were refusing to pay the list price. The convention authorized the jiggersmen to pay the list as prepared by the committee. At the meeting they decided the price shall be paid. This affects all shops under the jurisdiction of the Brotherhood. A counter resolution was passed a week ago, and sent to the finishers' local to the effect that hereafter all finishers shall furnish their own cutting irons, sponges files and buckets. In fact they shall furnish all tools heretofore furnished by the jiggersmen. The resolution was ignored by the finishers, they claiming it was not official, as the secretary failed to attach the seal. At the last meeting the seal was attached. What will be done with them will be watched with interest.

WORKING SLOWLY.

Work on the Dresden China company's plant at Salineville is not progressing rapidly. Lack of men is the reason assigned by those in charge of the construction. The lumber is about all on the ground except possibly three cars that will soon arrive. The roof covering the building will be a composition known as asbestos. It will take something like 25,000 square feet of window glass to light the building, besides about 40 sky lights that range from six feet square to eight and twenty four feet long. The brick used in the building and kilns will amount to over a million. The lumber will foot up nearly 500,000 feet.

A NEW SALESMAN.

H. S. Lincoln, formerly one of the leading salesmen of the Wheeling Pottery company, has resigned and associated himself with the Dresden. He will look after Ohio, Indiana, Michigan trade. W. J. Owen, late with the J. B. Owens pottery, Zanesville, will also represent the Dresden this year, and will cover Pennsylvania and New York. President H. A. McNicol has just set out with four immense trunks of samples for New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Atlantic City. His first stop is to be at New York for one week.

TRITT'S SUCCESSOR.

Announcement is made that Mr. Barton, at present associated with the Ohio China company at East Palestine, will succeed Manager William Tritt, when he retires from the Sebring interests. Mr. Tritt was been with the Sebring brothers for almost a score of years, first at the bench and later being employed by them in an official capacity. He is reported financially interested in the new shop at Crooksville, O., and it is said that he will become general manager.

BUSINESS PROSPECTS BRIGHT.

The potteries are now working full, and bustle and activity are noted in all departments. Shipments are improving, and increasing amounts of packed ware, marked for all parts of the country, lie on the streets and in front of the packing rooms. So far only a few traveling salesmen have gone out. A good many are now setting out. The business situation is considered excellent.

READY IN SEPTEMBER.

The Sebring Pottery company has its new plant—the fourth—nearly ready for the roof in the western half of the structure. This will be two stories and be occupied by the clay department. The other foundations are practically completed, and the plant will be completed by the close of September. This shop will probably be devoted exclusively to the manufacture of vitrified goods.

IMPROVED IN HEALTH.

Ernest Mayer, of the Mayer Pottery company, of New Brighton, Pa., has been at a noted watering place for the past month, and his many friends in this city will be glad to learn that he will return today, much improved in health. Mr. Mayer is highly esteemed by the potters of the country, and his advice and counsel are prized most highly.

A NEW SAMPLE ROOM.

The Thomas China company, of Lisbon, reports the fullest activity. The company booked three cars in a single day this week. It has opened a sample room at R. Thomas' Sons electrical plant in this city in which to display complete lines.

DOING THE EAST.

Col. Will A. Rhodes has started on his fall itinerary for Knowles, Taylor & Knowles, and was in Pittsburgh this week. He will be in Philadelphia on Aug. 4 to 9, and in New York after the 11th for two weeks.

DECORATORS NEEDED.

John Altman, of Toronto, salesman for the Shenango Pottery company of New Castle, Pa., was in the city last evening, and says his pottery is badly in need of good decorators, and are now running to their fullest capacity.

MEETING.

Kilndrawers' local No. 17, will meet this evening in Brotherhood hall. Owing to the absence of a quorum no meeting was held last Saturday evening, and some very important business is to be transacted.

AGAIN IN OPERATION.

The J. B. Owens pottery at Zanesville, which was burned out in January, has been rebuilt on a more extensive plan, and is once again in full operation.

NEW SEBRING WORKER.

George White, of Peoria, Ill., is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry White, of Sebring. He may take a position in one of the shops there.

A NEW ART SHOP.

The J. B. Owens Pottery company has purchased the Corona Pottery on Long Island. A complete line of art ware will be made.

OFF DUTY.

Fred Hultz and Mark Thornberry, kilndrawers at the Taylor, Smith & Taylor pottery, are off duty from illness.

CONTRACT FOR KILNS.

Gamble & Surles have the contract for the erection of three new glost kilns at the Sebring potteries.

PRESIDENT MAY INVESTIGATE.

Mayflower's Men Desert and Some Others Desire To.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 2.—The feeling of unrest among the crew of the Mayflower, which has led to several desertions, has been brought to the attention of the president. Several days ago he received an inkling of the troubles, but supposed that the cases of dissatisfaction were sporadic and isolated.

He had no idea until yesterday that the members of the crew generally were so incensed at what they regarded as ill treatment that quite half of the 141 men were ready to seize the first opportunity to leave the ship without warning. It is understood that Mr. Roosevelt will make a personal investigation of the matter with a view, if possible, of remedying the trouble.

Miss Roosevelt Gont to Newport.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 2.—Miss Alice Roosevelt left yesterday for Newport, where she will be the guest of Miss Helen Cutting, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fulton Cutting of New York.

Shaw to Speak in Vermont.

Washington, Aug. 2.—Secretary of the Treasury Shaw will open the gubernatorial campaign in Vermont.

Brain Food Nonsense.

Another ridiculous food fad has been branded by the most competent authorities. They have dispelled the silly notion that one kind of food is needed for brain, another for muscles, and still another for bones. A correct diet will not only nourish a particular part of the body, but it will sustain every other part. Yet, however good your food may be, its nutriment is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You may prepare for their appearance or prevent their coming by taking regular doses of Green's August Flower, the favorite medicine of the healthy millions. A few doses aids digestion, stimulates the liver to healthy action, purifies the blood, and makes you feel buoyant and vigorous. You can get the reliable remedy at Charles F. Craig's. THE ENK PREPARATIONS are founded on fact as demonstrated by practical experiments many times repeated and only accepted when the result was invariable. The basis of these Preparations is therefore LAW, as irrevocable and unchangeable as the law of gravitation. They are

The Only Scientific Medicines in the World!

While built upon the Homeopathic law of similars, which is Nature's law and therefore correct, yet they differ from all other Homeopathic remedies in composition and mode of preparation. They are many years in advance of medical science, include the principles recently announced by Prof. Loeb, practically adapted, Dr. Enk having reached the same conclusions nine years ago. The Preparations will restore health where everything else fails, and their use will prolong life in all cases.

LIBRARY PATRONAGE

FOR JULY SHOWED AN INCREASE
OVER JUNE.

New Plan as Regards New Books.
Reading Rooms Well
Patronized.

During the month of July the Carnegie public library was open 26 days, and 2954 books were circulated, a gain of 181 books over the month of June. The largest number of books circulated in any one day was 190. One hundred and seventy-four names were registered, making the total number of borrowers 1041. Although a great many people are away for the summer the reading rooms are well patronized, the turnstile showing the visitors to have been 6534. Nine hundred and seventy-two more books were issued to grown people than children. The first person to have his borrower's card filled was Jess Hanley, showing that he had borrowed and returned 42 books between May 12 and July 26.

On account of the great demand for recent books, a plan will be instituted about the 1st of August which, it is hoped, will give general satisfaction. The popular books will be marked with a label across the front cover showing that they may be retained but seven days. Anyone desiring a book reserved for them may buy a postal card at the desk on which they write their address and name of the book desired. When the book comes in the card will be mailed. All postal cards left for a book will be filed by date and each person will be notified in turn.

Seventy-six volumes of bound magazines, making a fine addition to the already good collection of reference books, were received this month from the bindery where they were sent from the old library. People having magazines which date back several years, would confer a great favor if they would fill up sets by donating their old numbers to the library. On account of the absence of several members of the board of directors from the city, the regular monthly meeting of the board was postponed.

CERTAIN RESULTS

Many a East Liverpool Citizen Knows How Sure They Are.

Nothing uncertain about the work of Doan's Kidney Pills in East Liverpool. There is plenty of positive proof of this in testimony of citizens, such evidence should convince the most skeptical doubter.

Read the following statement: Mr. Thomas Laughlin, of 172 Sophia street, engineer, says: "I caught cold and neglected it. It settled in my back and kidneys. Forced me to quit work and almost cost me my life. I could not move without suffering, and often could neither sit, stand or lie for pain. The secretions of the kidneys went wrong and distressed and annoyed me both night and day. I took medicine for ten years but did not get well. When I read of Doan's Kidney Pills I got a box at the W. & W. Pharmacy. Noticing some improvement by the time I had taken the first half of the box, I continued until I had taken four boxes and my back was all right as well as the urinary trouble. I will substantiate my statement of Doan's Kidney Pills if anyone will come to my house to investigate for themselves. My wife had some backache also; she took Doan's Kidney pills and was cured."

Sold for 50 cents per box by all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

THE BALANCE OF HEALTH

Is often very much against the wife. Her strength is undermined, she loses flesh and her energy and courage slowly leak away from her. Gradually the comradeship of husband and wife is broken up. At first he takes his solitary pleasures reluctantly, but later he hardly seems to remember the old days over which his wife in her weakness mourns daily.

Women who find their health failing, and womanly ailments fastening on them, should promptly begin the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It corrects irregularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well. Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I had been a great sufferer from female weakness for about two years," writes Mrs. Emma Richardson, of Gosh, Wayne Co., Ky. "I could not do my work part of the time. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and felt as well as I ever did. I have also used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for ulceration of the throat with good results and half of one bottle cured my throat when I could scarcely swallow."

Chillicothe being the first capital it is fitting that the state celebration should be held there. Very Useful in Hot Weather-- Life Plant Gives You Strength, Drives Away That Tired Feeling and Makes Your Mental Qualities Active.

Many people become tired and get played out so easily in hot weather, that they give up and blame it all on the weather, where, in fact, it is nothing more than your blood being out of order. Under such circumstances you should take a good tonic for your blood. LIFE PLANT is the best medicine on the market. Thousands are taking it and just as many are getting well. You don't have to go miles and miles away to find some one who has been cured by LIFE PLANT, they are all near here, in fact, some are your neighbors. If you cannot sleep well, if you are losing flesh, if your stomach is out of order, if you are constipated, if you have headaches, if your health is not satisfactory you should get a bottle of LIFE PLANT and you will be very thankful that such a good medicine is where you can get it.

The following letter from Geo. Burnworth of Cambridge, Ohio, is an assurance as to the merits of LIFE PLANT.

"I have tried all kinds of Headache medicine but could get no relief. I also had Stomach trouble and could not sleep well. LIFE PLANT did me more good than all the rest. LIFE PLANT is truly a medicine of merit."

Also a letter from C. T. Burnworth, of Cambridge, Ohio, proves for LIFE PLANT what no other medicine will do:

"I was suffering from extreme prostration; was tired and run down, and was nothing but skin and bone, and my trouble was thought to be Consumption. I took two bottles of LIFE PLANT and it cured me sound and well."

Ask for and get LIFE PLANT and you will make no mistake.

SICK MADE WELL WEAK MADE STRONG

Marvelous Elixir of Life Discovered by Famous Doctor-Scientist That Cures Every Known Ailment.

Wonderful Cures Are Effected That Seem Like Miracles Performed—The Secret of Long Life of Olden Times Revived.

The Remedy Is Free to All Who Send Name and Address.

After years of patient study, and delving into the dusty record of the past, as well as following modern experiments in the realm of medical science, Dr. James W. Kidd, 2617 Baites Building, Fort Wayne, Indiana, makes the startling announcement that he has surely discovered the elixir of life. That he is able to produce a powerful tonic, known only to himself, produced as a result of the years he has spent in searching for this precious life-giving tonic, to cure every disease that is known to the human body. There is no doubt of the doctor's earnestness in making his claim and the remarkable cures that he is daily effecting seem to bear him out very strongly. His theory which he advances is one of reason and based on sound experience in a medical practice of many years. It costs nothing to try his remarkable "Elixir of Life," as he calls it, for he sends it free to anyone who is a sufferer, in sufficient quantities to convince of its ability to cure, so there is absolutely no risk to run. Some of the cures cited are very remarkable and but for reliable witnesses would hardly be believed. The line have been produced by their families and friends in perfect health. Rheumatism, neuralgia, stomach, heart, liver, kidney, blood and skin diseases and bladder troubles disappear as by magic. Headaches, backaches, nervousness, fevers, consumption, coughs, colds, asthma, catarrh, bronchitis and all ailments of the throat, lungs or any vital organs are easily overcome in a space of time that is simply marvelous.

Partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, dropsy, gout, sciatica and rashes are quickly and permanently removed. It purifies the entire system, blood and tissue, restores normal nerve power, circulation and a state of perfect health is produced at once. To the doctor all systems are alike and equally affected by this great "Elixir of Life." It is free to every sufferer. HIS MEMORY HONORED him for many years, his honesty was not passive, but positive. He hated whatever is mean, false, tricky in business in work, in character.

"Brother Knowles was possessed of admirable poise of mental powers. I have never heard that the breath of suspicion touched his manly honor. He was sound to the core. He was not the embodiment of one virtue developed in excess; or rather, he was not so impoverished in moral virtues as to cause one noble trait of character to stand out so prominently as to absorb the attention of the beholder. The impression he made upon me was this: His life was gentle, and the elements so mixed in him, that nature might stand up and say to all the world, 'This was a man.'

"He betrayed no man; he was a man who had the courage of his convictions, although not given to their ostentatious proclamation. When his heart was touched he was as tender and cautious as a woman. He was cordial, kind and considerate in the treatment of his employees. His knowledge was exact and extensive. Every good cause had his sympathy and support. His benevolence was large, but concealed from the public gaze. His love for his church and his Savior was deep and genuine.

"No star goes down but climbs in other skies. The rose of russet folds its glory up. To burst again from out the heart of dawn.

And love is never lost, tho' hearts run waste.

And sorrow makes the chastened heart a seer.

The deepest dark reveals the starriest hope.

And faith can trust her heaven behind the veil.

"Peace, peace, come away the song of woe.

Is after all an earthly song; peace, peace, come away.

We do him wrong to sing so sadly. Let us go."

After prayer the quartet rendered the selection, "Some Time We'll Understand.

The services concluded, an opportunity was given for a farewell gaze upon the beloved features of Mr. Knowles, and that it was appreciated was evidenced by the hundreds who availed themselves of it. On the evening previous also a continuous line of people kept passing from 7.30 to 10 o'clock.

The floral offerings, testifying to love and appreciation of throngs of friends, were numerous and beautiful beyond description. Among many others was a magnificent vase which stood fully six feet high, constructed of white and purple astors, and tied with an immense bow of tulle and purple ribbon on which were the words: "In token of respect." This was the gift of the employees of the K. T. & K. pottery.

A very large wreath of astors and pink and white medallias, resting on a pedestal of other flowers was a gift of the employees of the Potters' Supply company, while another handsome piece was a gift of the workmen of the E. M. Knowles China company, of Chester. It was a broken column entwined with a wreath of white roses, and having large bunches of roses and lilies at the four corners. Quite a large bunch of Ascension lilies was sent by the office and traveling men of the K. T. & K. pottery.

Still another beautiful and appropriate token of respect was a huge pottery kiln, made of purple and white astors, roses, lilies and carnations. The piece stood probably more than six feet high and four feet broad at the base. This was the gift of the manufacturing potters of the city. It was too broad for the house, but rested on the porch, where it attracted much attention.

HIS MANY EXCELLENT TRAITS OF CHARACTER.

One of God's Own Noblemen—A Man Who Set a Worthy Example.

The following tribute to the memory of the late Isaac W. Knowles was written by an employee and associate of the deceased:

Today we laid to rest in a beautiful spot in Riverview cemetery all that is mortal of Isaac Watts Knowles, there to await a glorious awakening in the resurrection morning. While it is always a cause for weeping when our loved ones are taken away, yet we must all at last grapple with the grim monster, and when the earthly career of such a character as that of Mr. Knowles closes, there is a great satisfaction in calling to mind his beneficent life and noble influence. And who can measure the scope of his influence?

From a small beginning he not only kept pace with, but led off in the commendable desire of many in those early days to make East Liverpool the important center which it has now become. Long ago, in his beautiful poem, "Keramaos," must have had in mind such an one as he when he wrote: "Thus sang the potter at his task, beneath the blossoming Hawthorne tree."

Turn, turn, my wheel! turn round and round.

Without a pause, without a sound; So spins the flying world away!

This clay, well mixed with marl and sand,

Follows the motion of my hand; For some must follow and some command.

Though all are made of clay."

HIS PASTOR'S FITTING WORDS

The remains of the late Isaac W. Knowles were laid to rest today in Riverview cemetery, the service being held at 2 o'clock from the late residence on Fifth street.

The services were in charge of Rev. Dr. Clark Crawford, of the First M. E. church, of which the deceased had been a member since his youth. A quartet composed of Miss Millicent Thompson, Mrs. L. W. Healy, Chal Peterson and Robert L. Foutts, with Prof. Will Thompson as accompanist, sang in a very touching manner "Thou Art My Hiding Place, O Lord," after which Rev. Dr. Crawford read a number of appropriate selections. A solo, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," was sung by Miss Millicent Thompson in her inimitable manner.

Rev. Dr. Crawford took his text from Heb. 11:4, "He being dead yet speaketh." He said in part:

"The name of Isaac W. Knowles for almost three quarters of a century has been a household word in East Liverpool and the country surrounding it. His person and life had become truly a vital factor in the history and development of this entire community. When, therefore, the word came that he was no more upon the earth, this was the sentiment expressed: An old and honored pioneer is gone."

"We find in the forest an analogy. There stands one of those monarchs of the olden time. Strong, majestic, of large and noble mien, it bears upon its aged form the air of ancestral and personal dignity and worth. But when at last the crashing storm lays it prostrate upon the earth men mourn, saying, 'Behold, an ancient landmark has been removed.' Thus it is with some lives. They have stood long, growing in the soil of domestic, social, business and civic life about them. From the childhood of the younger generation they have been speaking to that generation out of volumes of the past, bringing forth from it lessons of instruction and admonition. When one who has occupied such a position dies, there is not only a sense of loss that is general, but one that is intense and personal. He is missed. The family misses him; the office misses him; the outside business world misses him; the community misses him."

"The virtues of our brother were of such a nature and the benefits which individuals and the community received from his beneficent life were so large and precious that it is highly fitting we should make public recognition of his rich service now closed. It is often said that republics are ungrateful, and certainly there have been many painful instances showing that the service of good and useful men may be forgotten. The presence here, however, of so large and representative a body of citizens, together with the pronouncement of the manufacturing potters and the spontaneous utterances of the people in general are our city's testimony to the character and labor of Isaac W. Knowles."

"To a multitude the world is not quite so bright now that he has left it; yet it is far brighter because he passed through it. It is a duty to publicly recognize and judiciously praise the virtues of good citizens. But, in addition to the duty of confession and recognition there is the privilege of learning and of instruction. Every truly effective and helpful life is a book from which to read. If we are wise we will seek to know the principles which have actuated men who have lived well. The value of the scriptural biographer is not that they tell us of faultless lives, but that as we read they discover to us the strong faith, the holy purpose and the sterling character of those who are wedded to duty, to righteousness, to noble achievement."

"As we are gathered today to pay respect to the memory of the one who stood for years as a patriarch of the people, there is an opportunity to learn. The one question of the hour is, What instruction does this fruitful life minister? Many lessons are suggested, of which they who have known him intimately and for a long period might speak more lucidly.

"The city press has set forth in excellent outline the salient points in Brother Knowles' honorable career. You are there told something of his ancestry. When and where he was born, when and of whom he learned his trade, how he abandoned that trade and embarked in business which proved to be the tide that led on to fortune. While such statistics and facts are significant they do not give us the full measure of such a life as our brother lived ere God took him. We have not expressed such a life when we repeat the dates of birth, marriage, business enterprises and death. If one has truly lived, the finest and divinest part of his life is unseen, unknown to the world."

"In the erection of that temple he began well. When a boy of 13 years he felt the pressure of religious duty. He heard the call of God and dedicated himself to Christian living. That Isaac W. Knowles laid at the very basis of his life-temple Christian business integrity does not admit of a doubt, for if the surest test of integrity is the actual life, then Brother Knowles was an honest man. If I may judge by strong words from his own lips and by the universal testimony of those closely identified with

Appreciate.

George Mackey, the well known cornetist of Manley's band, has taken out letters patent on an invention, known as an air tube in a cornet, which will afford clearer and more satisfactory musical notes on a cornet, and makes the matter of playing and blowing such an instrument much easier. The scale can be run more distinctly and higher notes are possible also under the new invention.

The improvement is one which has long been a study with Mr. Mackey, and he has at last perfected the idea, and will have the instrument manufactured and placed on the market, and it will undoubtedly be eagerly sought for by cornetists and musicians all over the country. Especially is the new tube desirable in sounding "C" note, which can be done without the operation of the two valves which shuts off a good deal of the air in passage through the tube, and a clear, sweet higher "C" note is also possible.

Mr. Mackey has devoted considerable time to his invention before he perfected it. He is a musician of more than ordinary ability, and his new idea is bound to meet with favor throughout the entire country.

Doped and robbed was the experience of Simon Haight, the janitor at the city hall, last night, according to his statement. It was while under the influence of the dope that he was arrested by Officer Woods in the vicinity of Thompson place. His head was expanded beyond its normal size this morning, when taken before the mayor. The mayor told him that he hated very much to fine an employee, but he could see no way out of it. Haight's wife was present at the hearing and said that she would pay the fine of $1 and costs for her husband, but would never do so again.

The mayor recommended that Simon drink no more booze, but that gentleman insisted that spirituous liquids only would stay well on his stomach.

Robert Waters, for resisting Officer Woods, and James Bezel, for being drunk, were fined $1 and costs each.

A LIVE QUESTION IS THE CODE ISSUE

What Legislation East Liv-

WILLING TO MEET THEM

And Receive Their Instructions—Hon.
R. W. Taylor Discusses the Question—Like's Governor Nash's Home Rule Ideas.

The municipal code question, important to all Ohio towns and cities, is being much discussed in East Liverpool at Present. Should the bill now being drafted by Governor Nash become a law, East Liverpool will be the only city in Columbiana county, and will have registration laws and all laws applicable to other cities.

Senator C. C. Connell, interviewed at Lisbon, today, said he was desirous of learning what the people of this city desire in the way of legislation to secure good government. As soon as he received a draft of Governor Nash's bill, he would be glad to meet the citizens of East Liverpool at any time and place to be designated, get their views, and do his best toward securing the desired legislation. The idea is favored by several prominent citizens, and it is quite likely the senator will be invited to come here and exchange views at a public meeting.

Hon. Robert W. Taylor, of Lisbon, arrived in the city last evening for the purpose of attending the funeral of Isaac W. Knowles.

When questioned upon the political outlook in the nation he said that it was bright for the Republicans. "I confidently look for the election of a Republican congress the coming fall," said he. "The people are in no humor for a change, are satisfied with existing prosperity and want to see it continued. They have not forgotten the dark days that followed the election of the last Democratic congress."

Speaking of a congressman's life and experiences, Mr. Taylor remarked that congress had a singular effect upon some of its members. For instance, a man who may have been distinguished as a brilliant orator and a pushing, energetic citizen at home, may enter the halls of the national legislature and never be heard from afterward.

"I know several gentlemen, distinguished as local orators and brilliant campaigners who seldom make a speech in congress, and rarely open their mouths except to vote on any question. On the other hand, men who have been noted at home for diffidence frequently push to the front and make themselves conspicuous in congress."

Asked as to the work of the legislature in the coming extra session Mr. Taylor remarked:

"The legislature is confronted by difficult and important questions, and I am inclined to think that its session is likely to be a long one."

"The question of municipal government in Ohio cities certainly presents great and grave problems. It is a matter, however, which attracts little attention in small towns, and I have not given much thought to the questions presented. Governor Nash is doing heroic work, and the best of his ideas and sentiments and those of his advisers will probably be engrafted upon the code bill when it is enacted. I strongly approve of his position, as I understand it, that the police of our cities should be removed as far as possible from the sphere of politics."

"In county offices and for mayors of cities it is generally better to have Republicans than Democrats, for the reason that the Republican party generally puts up better men than the Democrats. But, when it comes to police appointments, men should be chosen without regard to their political affiliations and solely with regard to their fitness. The police are merely the physical arm of the law. To be respected they must have but one object, to preserve order and do their duty fearlessly. The farther the control of the police of a city can be removed from politics the better for the public interests and protection."

"I believe strongly in home rule for municipalities and trust that the legislature will do its best to frame laws that will apply throughout Ohio and rid the state of pernicious special legislation enacted for partisan ends."

Harry Golding Arrested on a
Charge of Stealing Old Junk.

WAS CAUGHT IN THE ACT

The Material Taken Was From the
Old Specialty Glass Works, Where
Such Work has been Going on For
Some Time.

With the charge of larceny against him, Harry Golding, late of the exposition carnival company, which disbanded in this city during the week of the Fourth of July, was introduced to Mayor Davidson, this morning by Officer Aufderheide.

The officer arrested the young man at 9 o'clock a. m., after waiting three hours for the chance, and it was with an exultant gleam darting from his eyes that he waltzed into the court with his prisoner and claimed evidence to convict.

"I caught him in the very act," said the corpulent policeman. "I have been employed for several years as watchman at the plant of the Specialty Glass company, and not until recently was there anything disturbed about the plant. Yesterday I noticed that some things had been removed, and decided to institute a watch. This morning I went down to the place at 6 o'clock, and was there only a few minutes when I saw Golding and a partner approach with a horse and wagon."

"Wishing to catch them red handed, I allowed them to load the wagon, and then started after them. One of them ran away, but Golding stayed on the wagon. The wagon was heavily loaded, and I did not have much trouble in apprehending him."

John Manor, president of the company, was sent for, and he preferred a charge of larceny against Golding, swearing that he had stolen iron fixtures to the value of $28. The value of the junk was really more than assessed, but Mr. Manor stated he did not want the young man sent to the penitentiary, and only wanted to use him as an example.

To the charge Golding pleaded not guilty, and he was placed under a $50 bond for his appearance at 2 o'clock next Monday afternoon. He did not deny having the iron in his possession, but denied having stolen it, claiming that he bought it from a young man with a smooth face and reddish hair.

Golding asked for another arraignment this afternoon and pleaded guilty to the charge. He was fined $10 and costs.

ALLEYS NOW PAVED

NEEDED WORK DONE AT PROP-RIETARY OWNERS' EXPENSE.

Contractors Puzzled to Get Enough
Laborers on Account of Prevailing Sickness.

The three alleys at the rear of Sixth street and between Market and Broadway are now paved and present a very respectable appearance. The work was done through the efforts and at the expense of the abutting property owners. Contractor Ryan, who did the work, states that since the order of council was issued making it compulsory that those notified pave their sidewalks he and all of the rest of the contractors have had more work than they can attend to.

"If we could get more help," said he, "we would be in a better shape to handle the fast increasing orders. We never have the same crew at work two days in succession. We never know who is going to appear for work. It seems that they are attacked with a sickness which is prevalent. Most of them complain of stomach trouble, and I suppose it is due to drinking water when they are warm."

A physician corroborates the statement in regard to the sickness. He said that there is more sickness in the city at the present time than he ever knew before at this time of the year. He also credited it to the drinking of water.

and Other Damage.

The delivery team belonging to George Mayhew, the Fourth street grocer, ran away on Market street at noon today, the horses taking fright while the driver, Edward Rose, was absent delivering goods. They started at breakneck speed down Market street, turned the corner at Second street and continued their flight up that thoroughfare, causing great excitement to on-lookers.

Down over the Broadway wharf they flew, and finally brought up against the wharfbait, breaking the forward part of the wagon, pole, and losing one of the wheels. One of the horses, which was a fine team of blacks, was badly bruised and injured, and both horses were with difficulty gotten out of the water.

Had it not been that the wharfbait was directly in their path, both animals would have been drowned. As it is the damage is considerable.

A CONDUCTOR FILES CHARGES AGAINST A PASSENGER.

William Frey Got Thrown Off and Will Get Arrested For
His Actions.

When apprehended William Frey will have an opportunity to answer to the mayor for his alleged actions on a street car last night enroute to this city from Wellsville. The car was in charge of Conductor D. A. Woodward and Motorman Elwood Clager.

Woodward filed a charge this morning against Frey of disorderly conduct and using profane language. He was arrested by Officer Dunn when the car reached Union street, but was released owing to the fact that there was no written charge against him.

The conductor stated that Frey, with a lady and gentleman friend, boarded the car at Third street, Wellsville, and that from the time they placed their feet on the steps until Frey was arrested, all acted in a most disgraceful manner.

"The woman," he said, "was drunk, and acted disgracefully, and her friends were not far behind."

Frey, it was alleged, after swearing, howling and hooting loud enough to be heard a mile, finally made an attack on the motorman, attempting to get a hold on the controller to run the car to suit himself. He also rang up several fares. At Union street Woodward threw him to the ground, and he had difficulty in pulling himself together. The mayor has heard of many similar occurrences of late, and intends to give all such offenders the full extent of the law.

OUT THE BOULEVARD

Building Operations Are Brisk—Many
New Residences
Going Up.

Thompson boulevard is enjoying quite a building boom as a number of fine residences are building, and quite a number of others are in contemplation. W. H. Vodrey is grading his lot next to J. C. Thompson's place, and will erect a fine new residence. J. C. Fulton has completely remodeled and modernized the old Armstrong homestead, on the extension of Thompson boulevard out the Calcutta road.

Willis Gaston's new residence is making fine progress in Matthew Anderson's addition, and the foundation for the new palatial home of Prof. W. L. Thompson is building, and a great deal of material for the structure is now on the ground.

MRS. M'KINLEY'S THANKS

Liverpool People.

Citizens of this city well remember the token of sympathy displayed in a floral offering that was sent to Canton last fall a few days before President McKinley was buried. Some may have forgotten this fact, but Mrs. McKinley did not. Yesterday there was received in this city by William Ralph Scraggs a letter, written upon mourning paper, as follows:

"Mrs. McKinley and the members of the president's family gratefully acknowledge your sympathy with them, in their bereavement so tenderly expressed by your beautiful tribute of flowers on the occasion of his funeral."

The letter was mailed at Washington, D. C., Tuesday.

COLLIDED WITH A BOX CAR

James McMillen Had Shoulder
Dislocated and Was Otherwise Hurt.

BURIED BENEATH DEBRIS.

James McMillen, a teamster living on Lincoln avenue, had a most thrilling experience and narrow escape from death this morning at about 10 o'clock.

He was driving his team down Walnut street with a load of casks, which were to be shipped by the Burford Pottery company, when the horses became frightened near Fourth street and started on an awful run down the steep hill. In vain he pulled and tugged at the bits in the mouths of the frenzied animals, and was again thwarted when he attempted to apply the big lock. For a reason not known it failed to work. With this drawback the horses could not have checked the wagon had they so desired.

Notwithstanding that McMillen could see nothing but death or destruction staring him in the face, he would not desert the team, which incidentally, it is said, he loves better than himself, but held on tightly to the reins, fighting against fate. Gaining in speed from the first jump, the horses and wagon were splitting the air like unto a runaway locomotive, when the bottom of the hill was reached and there was nothing for the driver to do but sit and take the worst.

When the freight station was reached he attempted, by pulling heroically on one line, to swerve the wagon's course, but to no avail. Like a shot the horses passed, and before the spectators, a hundred or more having assembled all along, were able to make a prediction, the horses and wagon crashed into a heavy box car and with the result that the driver and horses were badly injured, and the front part of the wagon smashed into smithereens.

Following the crash loud moans were heard coming from the midst of the debris and as was expected, several who ran to the scene, found McMillen tightly crushed between the car and wagon. He was extricated, but not without the use of bars, and taken at once to the station.

Dr. W. J. Taylor made a thorough examination of the man's wounds, finding that he had received a terrible blow on the neck; that his right arm was dislocated; his breast severely bruised and torn and that his forehead was cut but not seriously.

After replacing the shoulder and giving other treatment the physician ordered that the sufferer be taken to his home in the patrol wagon, where he now lies suffering awfully but with hopes of recovery.

TO AMUSE CHILDREN

Mrs. Jacobs Explains in Justice's Court
Why She Carried a Hatchet.

Squire McLane's court presented a business appearance today. The case of the state against Mrs. Henry Jacobs occasioned the assemblage of a large crowd and the testimony offered was exceedingly entertaining. Mrs. Jacobs strongly denied that she had threatened any one's life and stated that she only carried the hatchet to amuse the children with it. She alleged that all of her neighbors have been treating her shamefully and stated that if the law would not do something with them she would.

At 3 o'clock the case was still on and the result cannot be ascertained until late this evening.

Hurt By a Fall.

M. K. Carroll, employed at the Wallace & Chetwynd pottery, this morning fell from a scaffold about the new decorating kiln. A portion of the scaffold also fell, striking Carroll on the right leg. The flesh just above the knee was torn considerably and the attention of a physician was required. Carroll was removed to his home on Pennsylvania avenue in the ambulance.

THEIR CONFIDENCE WAS MISPLACED

Visitors From Parkersburg Expected to Win With Ease Yesterday.

ONE INNING FIXED THEM

Their Crack Pitcher Went in the Air. Five Runs By East Liverpool at the Start Virtually Decides the Contest. An Exciting Game.

That invincible aggregation of ball players who hail from the hills of West Virginia, in close proximity to Parkersburg, met a Waterloo yesterday afternoon in West End park.

Having experienced so little trouble in doing Manager Walsh's men at the last meet, about five weeks ago, the visitors went into the game with the self-assurance that they would have a walkover. They even boasted before the game was called of what easy marks they were going to mix with, of how they would have two more victories to add to their already long list. A different song floated on the warm air last night from their hotel room.

It was all done in one inning. The first was enough. Five big runs. They looked to the visitors like a range of the Appalachian system. What could they do after such a lead was gained? As far as victory was concerned, they never even entertained such a thought. All they endeavored to do was to hold the score down in order that a crowd might be present at today's contest.

Myers, their crack pitcher, went in the air for the first time during the season. Hundred pound weights would have had little effect on him. The manner in which he twisted himself when Coleman came to the bat caused an uneasy spell among the locals, and they were a trifle more on the anxious seat when the young man laid his stick over the plate after striking savagely at the vacant air three times. The spell was broken for good, though, when Davis went forward and placed a two-bagger far in to right field, Tyson, Fred Heckathorn and Gibson following it with pretty bumps, the game was up.

The villain was in their hands at last. But to make matters worse the poor twirler, who has probably been the recipient of more bouquets than any other man on either team, having won every game that he pitched, even from the Cuban Giants, stepped a notch higher on the ladder and gave the next man his base on four wild ones. The succeeding two ambulated on "fielders' choice," and the scoring was not ended until five dots marked the scorer's book.

At only one time did the far-away youths have a measly chance. That was in the fifth. They lacked out three runs of leaving the score tied and started out as if they meant business, but only for a minute. Winters' curves and his excellent backing were too much for them. They were compelled to lie down and call it a lost cause.

Notwithstanding that Myers went so high in the beginning he did as well as could be expected during the remainder of the battle, and it is an assured fact that he will not get his release before the team returns "down yander."

Fred Heckathorn was the ladies' man in the game with Kent, but he is now taking a back seat. He has turned his position over to Mr. Trainor, if you please. That gentleman was the whole cheese. Running for several hundred yards he fell down in making a grab for one of those skyscrapers. When he finally got himself from a tangle in the horse weeds he had the ball in his mitts and that cinched the laurels. He didn't show much embarrassment either when the lassies applauded him. In fact, he acted as though he rather liked it.

Winters pitched a beautiful game. It was the same kind that he always delivers. He has pitched more winning games than any man on the team.

NO NEGLIGENCE

In Miss Steele's Case According to the Township Trustees' Statement.

Regarding the illness of Miss Minnie Steele, the township trustees deny that there was any negligence. Mr. Albright stated this morning that they first heard of the case on Tuesday evening, and gave it immediate attention. On Wednesday they found a place for her and had her removed and placed in a nurse's care. He also stated that she had medical attention just as soon as the trustees were notified, and that the reports to the contrary were circulated evidently by some person prejudiced or misinformed.

James Bloor, at whose home the young lady lived, denies that she had no medical attention for eight days. He said today:

"Miss Steele did not complain of being sick until Friday the 25th of July, and on Saturday morning before going to work, I sent for Dr. Ogden, who prescribed for her. On Sunday and Monday she was some better. On Tuesday when I went home to dinner she was much worse. I immediately sent for the doctor, who stated she would require constant attention, which I could not furnish, for I have no wife and five children. I furnished a nurse for her Tuesday night, and the next day she was removed. It was utterly impossible for me to attend to the case.

"I came to the conclusion that the best thing that I could do under the circumstances was to notify the township trustees, which I did on Tuesday night. They visited the patient on Wednesday morning, and the township trustees removed Miss Steele about noon. Miss Steele had all the attention that I and the neighbors could give her."

DELAYED A MONTH

Government Engineer Returns for a Long Overdue Express Package.

J. A. Caldwell, chief of the geological surveying corps which was located in East Liverpool for some weeks, returned to the city last evening, and states that his corps is now working in the vicinity of Brownsville and Charleroi, Pa. Mr. Caldwell's visit was for the purpose of securing an express package which should have arrived at the Adams Express office in this city four or five weeks ago, and as the package contains some valuable government data, he is considerably exercised over its non-arrival.

This is the third trip Mr. Caldwell has made to East Liverpool for the package and each time has been disappointed. Of course the delay must be somewhere else. There could be nothing wrong with the express service in this city.

EAST END GREAT IMPROVEMENTS

IN PROGRESS ON OHIO AVENUE
IN THE EAST END.

Numerous Flagstone Pavements Laid.

Ohio avenue in the East End gives promise of being one of the most beautiful streets in that section within the next few years. There is not another street in that part of the city that is being built up more rapidly. During the past week excavating was commenced on this street for the erection of a large brick home for George Smith, a salesman for Knowles', and it is estimated that when completed it will cost $6,000. This residence will be of brick, of a colonial architecture and will be quite an addition to the East End.

During the past six months a number of new residences have been built on this street, all of which are above the ordinary sort of homes that are being built about the city. The work of beautifying this street, which a few years ago, was nothing but a farm, will continue with the constructing of a flagstone sidewalk the entire length of the street. A number of property owners have had these sidewalks placed in front of their residences within the past month, and it is announced that others will do the same. This will make Ohio avenue the only street in the city, the entire length of which contains a flagstone sidewalk.

Mr. Harker was the first to have flagstone placed in front of his property, and then Elijah Mountford followed suit. Walter Supplee and George Smith and other property owners will also place this sort of a sidewalk in front of their property. These little details tend to beautify a street, and Ohio avenue will soon be a thoroughfare of which its residents can well be proud.

PRIZE RING RULES

Dispute Over a Game of Pool.

A fight, under the rules governing contests for which paid admission is asked, took place in the East End last evening just outside the corporate limits, which was for blood, and blood came. The fight was most fierce, blow after blow being struck, so it is claimed by those who said they witnessed the affair. The trouble was brought about in an East End pool room when Robert House and Joe Miller became involved in an argument about a game of pool. One word brought on another and these words brought on a fight, and a fight to the finish it was.

It was agreed that the men should not strike one another while clinched, or when a man was down, and these rules were strenuously lived up to.

Fainting Spells

always indicate a weak heart. They are usually preceded or followed by palpitation or fluttering, and there may be pain in left side, a smothering sensation and shortness of breath. Such a heart should be treated at once, before the disease develops beyond control. Heart disease is as easily cured as other troubles if taken in time.

"I was subject to fainting spells, and many times I have fallen on the street. I was often compelled to sit down while walking to avoid falling. When physicians failed to help me, I took Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and was completely cured."

CHARLES D. RANDALL,

The number of rounds the men fought are not given, but the report that has been circulated about the affair by those who are reported to have seen the "doings" say the men did not fight just for the fun of the matter. After the battle was over, and in which House is reported to have been the vanquished, the spectators and the fighters returned to the East End. The affair was the talk of the East End this morning.

The train on which the horse was shipped was wrecked during the trip, and the three cars in the rear of the one in which Robert L. was quartered were smashed. The animal was knocked down, but luckily escaped serious injury. The horse will be kept at Columbian park during the remainder of the season.

A STRONG, VIGOROUS MAN Is Liable to Break Down—Pe-ru-na is Sure to Restore.

Hon. Frank Dunn, Alderman Twenty-Fourth District, writes from 232 East Fifty-Eighth Street, New York City:
The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.:

Gentlemen: "There is no remedy for a broken-down system that I know of which will so effectually restore health as Peruna."

"Whenever I am overworked or suffer from the consequences of a cold a few doses of Peruna builds me up again more quickly than anything I ever tried. I find it especially valuable for catarrh. Three bottles cured me three years ago of catarrh of the stomach and I have never had the least symptoms of it since."

Very truly,

FRANK DUNN, Alderman 24th Dist., N. Y. City.

A TONIC is a medicine that gives tone to some part of the system. There are different kinds of tonics, but the tonic most needed in this country, where catarrh is so prevalent, is a tonic that operates on the mucous membranes.

Peruna is a tonic to the mucous membranes of the whole body. It gives tone to the capillary circulation which constitutes these delicate membranes.

Peruna is a specific in its operation upon the mucous membrane. It is a tonic that strikes at the root of all catarrhal affections. It gives tone to the minute blood vessels and the terminal nerve fibres. Catarrh cannot exist long where Peruna is used intelligently. Peruna seeks out catarrh in all the hidden parts of the body.

Paul Landrum writing from Atlanta, Ga., says:

"In January last I began the use of your Peruna and Manalin for what was termed organic heart trouble. At that time I could scarcely walk to my place of business without stopping to rest and on arrival felt completely exhausted. Had severe pains in my heart and general dizziness. After using the first bottle of Peruna I began to improve and today I feel that I am a sound man and I work fourteen hours a day without any bad feeling."—Paul Landrum.

A. M. Ikerd, an employee of the C. B. & Q. R. R., West Burlington, Ia., writes: "I had catarrh of the stomach and small intestines for a number of years. I went to a number of doctors and got no relief. Finally one of my doctors sent me to Chicago and I met the same fate. They said they could do nothing for me, that I had cancer of the stomach and there was no cure. I almost thought the same, for my breath was something awful. I could hardly stand it, it was so offensive. I could not eat anything without great misery, and I gradually grew worse."

"Finally I got one of your books, and concluded I would try Peruna, and thank God, I found a relief and a cure for that dreadful disease. I took five bottles of Peruna and two of Manalin, and I now feel like a new man. There is nothing better than Peruna, and I keep a bottle in my house all the time."—A. M. Ikerd.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

The centennial anniversary of the admission of Ohio into the union comes next year. Preparations are being made to celebrate the event at Chillicothe, which was the state's first capital. The centennial will probably not be the imposing affair that was contemplated a few years ago when a huge appropriation and a small sized world's fair were contemplated. But the occasion can be made great and memorable without these show features. To let the anniversary pass without suitable public observance would be discreditable to the oldest and greatest of the states northwest of the Ohio, the mother of presidents, statesmen, warriors, patriots, poets, scientists and men distinguished in every walk of life. It is proposed to celebrate the anniversary in the public schools on March 1, 1903, and to have a centennial commission, appointed by the governor, act in conjunction with the state Archaeological and Historical society to arrange for the more formal and elaborate exercises at Chillicothe. This indicates that the event is to be commemorated in the way most fitting by placing historical features foremost. Ohio has made history on a scale which few sections of the union can match, and she has sons capable of writing history that shall live in literature. The coming centennial should be productive of written accounts of the state's struggles and triumphs that are fit to survive and serve as text books for coming generations. No American should consider himself educated unless familiar with the history of his own country and his own state. If the coming centennial proves an incentive to historical research and fosters a desire among the young people who live in Ohio to learn of the past and to study the lives of the men who have made the state great and have left their impress upon the nation, it will serve an admirable purpose. Effort in this line should at once be put forth and not relaxed, and the centennial may result in far more actual benefit than should we seek to advertise its birthday anniversary by an imposing exposition.

One Democratic state convention after another turns its back on Bryan. In time he may come to understand what it all means, though he is usually too busy talking to do much thinking.

Democrats are not boasting so loudly as usual that they are going to carry New York next fall. Their lack of confidence in such a result is shown by the fact that they are experiencing difficulty in finding anybody willing to accept a nomination for governor.

Baldwin, the arctic explorer, has returned from the north, saying his work has been successful. But he got no nearer the pole than former explorers.

Indications multiply that there is warm work ahead for the legislature, without counting weather conditions.

Wait till Bryan recovers his wind after hearing that Michigan Democrats named a gold bug for governor!

Prosperity has overtaken all classes. Even pickpockets are now traveling on Pullman cars.

Richard Croker is developing the habit of retiring from politics between campaigns.

William L. Clark.

The last illness of William L. Clark, the veteran editor of Wellsville, terminated in a peaceful death at 4 o'clock last evening at his home on Main street. Nearly all his living relatives were present when death came. The immediate cause of death was paralysis. William L. Clark spent most of his life in Wellsville. He was born March 22, 1814, at Snow Hill, near Baltimore, and spent his early life there. He was imbued with the spirit of the south, and never faltered in his sympathy for that section. While in Maryland he learned the printers' trade, and his proficiency soon led him to journalism. In those days a knowledge of the stick and case and the manipulation of a hand press was essential to an editor. Mr. Clark had mastered these, and was gifted with literary talent.

Upon his removal to Wellsville in 1832, Mr. Clark worked at his trade, and contributed his literary productions to the Pittsburg newspapers. In 1845 he acquired the American Patriot, Wellsville's first newspaper, and continued its publication for nearly a quarter of a century. The name of this paper was changed to Wellsville Patriot after he purchased it. It soon became widely known. His fearless editorials, all for the Confederacy, during '61 and '62, provoked the enmity of many, but all admired his courage. A company of soldiers at Sallineville, home on a furlough, had heard of Mr. Clark's political views, and started for Wellsville bent on mischief. A circus was exhibiting in the city on that day, and Mr. Clark, armed only with a bundle of tickets, met the soldiers and presented each with a ticket. He was unmolested.

In 1865 Mr. Clark ceased the publication of the Patriot, and since that time, having lived a life of frugality, amassed a snug fortune, he retired from active business. He visited Maryland for a few years, and since that time has lived in this city. He has seen Wellsville develop from a struggling river town to a prosperous city. Few of his old associates here and few of his relatives survive him. The funeral services will take place Monday morning from his late home, Rev. Leinoine C. Wells officiating.

RIVER NOTES.

Fogs have delayed the river steamers considerably the past few nights. The Virginia up last night put off a good many passengers at this point. She also had a big round trip list of passengers.

There is no falling off in the big passenger business of the steamers, which has been noted not only in East Liverpool, but in many of the cities skirting the Ohio. With a continuance of water through August it is expected there would be the greatest amount of travel of this kind ever known. River outings have never been so popular.

A POET'S NOTIONS

About Base Ball, Potteries And Other Current Topics in East Liverpool.

The editor of the Kent Courier, who visited this city with the Kent ball team last week, has many kindly things to say of East Liverpool in his paper. He also drops into poetry, specimens of which follow:
There's a lovely, hustling town,
East Liverpool.
With potteries scattered all around,
East Liverpool.
Hills and water all are there,
Pottery dust gets in your hair,
But your umpire's on the square,
East Liverpool.

You've got boys who play the game,
East Liverpool.
And they help to bring you fame,
East Liverpool.
There's Curt Welsh, who's gone away,
Carey and Mercer of today,
And there's others, by the way,
East Liverpool.

They've potteries, potteries everywhere,
East Liverpool.

With pottery dust to make you swear,
It sticks on your shoes and it sticks in your hair.

It gets in your eyes and I do declare—
It comes to the table in broad daylight.

And sneaks in your bed at middle of night.

Those pottery hills they reach up a mile,

You'd think if you tried to climb one awhile.

But those hills are filled with pottery clay,

And that's the reason they're 'lowed to stay.

Tae've pottery artists and pottery cranks,

Pottery cigars 'way up in the ranks.

Pottery hotels and places to eat,
Pottery shoes to wear on your feet.

Pottery papers with pottery news,
Pottery experts with pottery views.

Pottery whisky as rank as sin,
Pottery jalls to lock you in.

Pottery pavement straight up and down.

Pottery streets that curve around,
Pottery cars that potter along.

Pottery stogies awfully strong,
Pottery steamers that downward float.

And every kind of a pottery boat,
A pottery river all covered with fog.

Pottery wreckage to throw at the dog,
Pottery girls all over the place.

With winsome smiles and handsome face.

Pottery reporters that hustle you bet,
Pottery water that's hardly wet.

Pottery drinks that give you a pain,
And make you wish you were in Kent again.

Pottery ball players not all tame,
Pottery players who get in the game.

Pottery rooters who sit on the hills,
And let the management settle the bills.

Pottery people who treated us right,
And made our stay one grand delight.

Base ball people reach out glad hand,
No finer than Walsh, Rose or Orr in the land.

May the win all the rest of the games they play,

Unless they meet Kent again some day.

East Liverpool we'll never forget,
Nor Landford Terry, of the Lakel, you bet.

Old town at the meeting of river and hill,

You have your faults, but you're all right still.

An Animal Frothing at the Mouth Slaughtered By Chief Thorn.

Chief Thorn killed a supposed mad dog yesterday. The animal seemingly had been turned out in the streets to die, rather than be muzzled, and exhibited his displeasure by growling and snapping at passersby.

When found near the Mission church the dog was frothing at the mouth and showed other indications of going mad. Chief Thorn shot the animal, which was buried at the city's expense.

Jumped the Track.

The regular Saturday wreck on the Pennsylvania lines took place, as have many others, in Wellsville. Engine 238, the erratic shifter which is only slightly behind 693 in her exploits, jumped the track with two gondola cars near the steel mill boiler house. No one was injured and no damage done. The tool car and crane soon replaced the cars on the track.

Street Poorly Lighted.

John Smith, a milkman, was driving home last evening and near Sixth and Main streets, where a deep ditch has been dug across the street, his horse fell in the ditch. The struggles of the animal brought a large crowd to the scene. Lanterns were secured and the animal was extricated from its position. The ditch, residents verily say, should be lighted better.

Badly Cut His Leg.

G. A. Ashby, of Portland, O., a railroad man, had his leg badly cut while handling freight at the Third street depot last evening. A large quantity of sheet steel was being transferred from a store room to an eastbound freight, and in attempting to carry too heavy a load, Ashby's left leg was cut near the knee with a deep gash.

Tired But Happy.

The young people who attended the Sunday school picnic at Stanton Park, near Steubenville, yesterday, returned last evening tired and happy. Only one thing marred the complete pleasure of the day's outing, and this, those who attended say, was the condition of the park grounds.

Presents Neat Appearance.

The entire Wellsville wrecking outfit at the railroad shops is now resplendent in a new coat of red paint, which was applied yesterday. The cars present a neat appearance, being lettered with white in the new style.

A BLOODY BATTLE.

Truce to Bury Dead, Rebels Having About 200 Killed—Fighting Resumed

Panama, Aug. 2.—The peace commissioners who left here July 29, on the British steamer Cana, to visit the revolutionary General Herrera, near Agua Dulce, returned to Panama at noon yesterday. They informed the representative of the Associated Press that they were unable to fulfill their mission, because a very severe engagement between Herrera's forces and the government troops had been in progress since Tuesday, July 29, when the revolutionary forces began to attack Agua Dulce.

At 5 o'clock Thursday morning the best battalions of the revolutionary forces attacked the government entrenchments with fierce courage. The slaughter of the revolutionists is said to have been excessive and barbarous. The same afternoon the white flag was raised in their camp and they asked for an armistice, during which they could bury their dead. This was granted. The losses of the rebels up to Wednesday, July 30, were reported at over 200, while the government forces had had eight men killed and 11 wounded.

At the expiration of the time of armistice the engagement recommenced with the same fierceness. Nine government battalions which had not taken part in the fight were still being held in reserve Thursday night.

BRICK BUSINESS GOOD

New Cumberland Manufacturers Have a Season of Unprecedented Prosperity.

There never was a time in the history of the paving brick business at New Cumberland that there was such a demand. The factories are unable to supply the market, and the prices are better than for a long time. Some of the brick factories in the vicinity of New Cumberland made handsome profits last year. It is said several factories made sums ranging from $10,000 to $20,000. With the improved facilities for manufacturing and handling brick they can now be manufactured at much less cost than heretofore.

The big Corliss engine and new tunnel dryers which have just been put in at the Black Horse works will make a saving of $40 per day in fuel and labor at that plant, and those who know say the plant will clear $20,000 in a year's time. Some of the small factories along the bend wound up last year's business with profits ranging from $10,000 to $15,000.

CUMMINS WILL INVESTIGATE.

Iowa Governor to Look Into Law Regarding Rock Island Organization.

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 2.—Governor Cummins announced yesterday that he is investigating the recent reorganization of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway with a view of ascertaining whether the organization is in all respects in harmony with the laws of the state of Iowa. He has not yet conferred with the attorney general, but will do so as soon as the attorney general returns to the city. Governor Cummins stated yesterday that the first question he is inquiring into is as to whether the inflation of capital stock which is contemplated by the reorganization is consistent with the Iowa law. In the second place he desires to know just how far it is lawful for a New Jersey corporation to own and control the property of a railway owned and operated in Iowa. He has not reached a conclusion on either of these questions, and declares that he means to give them a thorough investigation before he decides what his duty toward the new company may be under the premises.

"It may be," he stated, "that the Iowa laws contemplate as much latitude as this company has used, but I doubt it very much."

Many a East Liverpool Citizen Knows How Sure They Are.

Nothing uncertain about the work of Doan's Kidney Pills in East Liverpool. There is plenty of positive proof of this in testimony of citizens, such evidence should convince the most skeptical doubter.

Read the following statement:

Mr. Thomas Laughlin, of 172 Sophia street, engineer, says: "I caught cold and neglected it. It settled in my back and kidneys. Forced me to quit work and almost cost me my life. I could not move without suffering, and often could neither sit, stand or lie for pain. The secretions of the kidneys went wrong and distressed and annoyed me both night and day. I took medicine for ten years but did not get well. When I read of Doan's Kidney Pills I got a box at the W. & W. Pharmacy. Noticing some improvement by the time I had taken the first half of the box, I continued until I had taken four boxes and my back was all right as well as the urinary trouble. I will substantiate my statement of Doan's Kidney Pills if anyone will come to my house to investigate for themselves. My wife had some backache also; she took Doan's Kidney pills and was cured."

Sold for 50 cents per box by all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

THE BALANCE OF HEALTH

Is often very much against the wife. Her strength is undermined, she loses flesh and her energy and courage slowly leak away from her. Gradually the comradeship of husband and wife is broken up. At first he takes his solitary pleasures reluctantly, but later he hardly seems to remember the old days over which his wife in her weakness mourns daily.

Women who find their health failing, and womanly ailments fastening on them, should promptly begin the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It corrects irregularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well. Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I had been a great sufferer from female weakness for about two years," writes Mrs. Emma Richardson, of Gosh, Wayne Co., Ky. "I could not do my work part of the time. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and felt as well as I ever did. I have also used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for ulceration of the throat with good results and half of one bottle cured my throat when I could scarcely swallow."

A centennial commission will be appointed by the governor to work in harmony with the State Archaeological and Historical society and state and national officials will lend assistance. It is understood that Whitelaw Reid and W. D. Howells already have consented to write poems for the occasion.

SICK MADE WELL WEAK MADE STRONG

Marvelous Elixir of Life Discovered by Famous Doctor-Scientist That Cures Every Known Ailment.

The Remedy Is Free to All Who Send Name and Address.

DR. JAMES WILLIAM KIDD.

that he has surely discovered the elixir of life. That he is able with the aid of a serious compound, known only to himself, produced as a result of the years he has spent in searching for this precious life-giving boon, to cure any and every disease that is known to the human body. There is no doubt of the doctor's earnestness in making his claim and the remarkable cures that he is daily effecting seems to bear him out very strongly. A theory which he advances is one of reason and based on sound experience in a medical practice of many years. It costs nothing to try his remarkable "Elixir of Life" as he calls it, for he sends it free, to anyone who is a sufferer, in sufficient quantities to convince of its ability to cure, so there is absolutely no risk to run. Some of the cures cited are very remarkable and but for reliable witnesses would hardly be credited. The time have thrown away crutches and walked about after two or three trials of the remedy. The sick, given up by home doctors, have been restored to their families and friends in perfect health. Rheumatism, neuralgia, stomach heart liver, kidney, blood and skin diseases and bladder troubles disappear as by magic. Headaches, backaches, nervousness, fevers, consumption, coughs, colds, asthma, emphysema, bronchitis and all affections of the throat, lungs or any vital organs are easily overcome in a space of time that is simply marvelous. HIS MEMORY HONORED him for many years, his honesty was not passive, but positive. He hated whatever is mean, false, tricky in business in work, in character.

"Brother Knowles was possessed of admirable poise of mental powers. I have never heard that the breath of suspicion touched his manly honor. He was sound to the core. He was not the embodiment of one virtue developed in excess; or rather, he was not so impoverished in moral virtues as to cause one noble trait of character to stand out so prominently as to absorb the attention of the beholder. The impression he made upon me was this: His life was gentle, and the elements so mixed in him, that nature might stand up and say to all the world, 'This was a man.'

"He betrayed no man; he was a man who had the courage of his convictions, although not given to their ostentatious proclamation. When his heart was touched he was as tender and cautious as a woman. He was cordial, kind and considerate in the treatment of his employees. His knowledge was exact and extensive. Every good cause had his sympathy and support. His benevolence was large, but concealed from the public gaze. His love for his church and his Savior was deep and genuine.

"No star goes down but climbs in other skies.

The rose of russet folds its glory up. To burst again from out the heart of dawn.

And love is never lost, tho' hearts run waste.

And sorrow makes the chastened heart a seer.

The deepest dark reveals the starriest hope.

And faith can trust her heaven behind the veil.

"Peace, peace, come away the song of woe.

Is after all an earthly song; peace, peace, come away.

We do him wrong to sing so sadly. Let us go."

After prayer the quartet rendered the selection, "Some Time We'll Understand.

The services concluded, an opportunity was given for a farewell gaze upon the beloved features of Mr. Knowles, and that it was appreciated was evidenced by the hundreds who availed themselves of it. On the evening previous also a continuous line of people kept passing from 7:30 to 10 o'clock.

The floral offerings, testifying to love and appreciation of throngs of friends, were numerous and beautiful beyond description. Among many others was a magnificent vase which stood fully six feet high, constructed of white and purple asters, and tied with an immense bow of tulle and purple ribbon on which were the words: "In token of respect." This was the gift of the employees of the K. T. & K. pottery.

A very large wreath of asters and pink and white medallies, resting on a pedestal of other flowers was a gift of the employees of the Potters' Supply company, while another handsome piece was a gift of the workmen of the E. M. Knowles China company, of Chester. It was a broken column entwined with a wreath of white roses, and having large bunches of roses and lilies at the four corners. Quite a large bunch of Ascension lilies was sent by the office and traveling men of the K. T. & K. pottery.

Still another beautiful and appropriate token of respect was a huge pottery kiln, made of purple and white asters, roses, lilies and carnations. The piece stood probably more than six feet high and four feet broad at the base. This was the gift of the manufacturing potters of the city. It was too broad for the house, but rested on the porch, where it attracted much attention.

ISAAC W. KNOWLES

HIS MANY EXCELLENT TRAITS OF CHARACTER.

One of God's Own Noblemen—A Man Who Set a Worthy Example.

The following tribute to the memory of the late Isaac W. Knowles was written by an employee and associate of the deceased:

Today we laid to rest in a beautiful spot in Riverview cemetery all that is mortal of Isaac Watts Knowles, there to await a glorious awakening in the resurrection morning. While it is always a cause for weeping when our loved ones are taken away, yet we must all at last grapple with the grim monster, and when the earthly career of such a character as that of Mr. Knowles closes, there is a great satisfaction in calling to mind his beneficent life and noble influence. Any who can measure the scope of his influence?

From a small beginning he not only kept pace with, but led off in the commendable desire of many in those early days to make East Liverpool the important center which it has now become. Long ago, in his beautiful poem, "Keramaos," must have had in mind such an one as he when he wrote: "Thus sang the potter at his task, beneath the blossoming Hawthorne tree."

Turn, turn, my wheel! turn round and round.

Without a pause, without a sound: So spins the flying world away!

This clay, well mixed with marl and sand,

Follows the motion of my hand; For some must follow and some command.

HIS PASTOR'S FITTING WORDS

The remains of the late Isaac W. Knowles were laid to rest today in Riverview cemetery, the service being held at 2 o'clock from the late residence on Fifth street.

The services were in charge of Rev. Dr. Clark Crawford, of the First M. E. church, of which the deceased had been a member since his youth. A quartet composed of Miss Millicent Thompson, Mrs. L. W. Healy, Chas. Peterson and Robert L. Foutts, with Prof. Will Thompson as accompanist, sang in a very touching manner "Thou Art My Hiding Place, O Lord," after which Rev. Dr. Crawford read a number of appropriate selections. A solo, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," was sung by Miss Millicent Thompson in her inimitable manner.

Rev. Dr. Crawford took his text from Heb. 11:4: "He being dead yet speaketh." He said in part:

"The name of Isaac W. Knowles for almost three quarters of a century has been a household word in East Liverpool and the country surrounding it. His person and life had become truly a vital factor in the history and development of this entire community. When, therefore, the word came that he was no more upon the earth, this was the sentiment expressed: 'An old and honored pioneer is gone.'"

"We find in the forest an analogy. There stands one of those monarchs of the olden time. Strong, majestic, of large and noble mien, it bears upon its aged form the air of ancestral and personal dignity and worth. But when at last the crashing storm lays it prostrate upon the earth men mourn, saying, 'Behold, an ancient landmark has been removed.' Thus it is with some lives. They have stood long, growing in the soil of domestic, social, business and civic life about them. From the childhood of the younger generation they have been speaking to that generation out of volumes of the past, bringing forth from it lessons of instruction and admonition. When one who has occupied such a position dies, there is not only a sense of loss that is general, but one that is intense and personal. He is missed. The family misses him; the office misses him; the outside business world misses him; the community misses him."

"The virtues of our brother were of such a nature and the benefits which individuals and the community received from his beneficent life were so large and precious that it is highly fitting we should make public recognition of his rich service now closed. It is often said that republics are ungrateful, and certainly there have been many painful instances showing that the service of good and useful men may be forgotten. The presence here, however, of so large and representative a body of citizens, together with the pronouncement of the manufacturing potters and the spontaneous utterances of the people in general are our city's testimony to the character and labor of Isaac W. Knowles."

"To a multitude the world is not quite so bright now that he has left it; yet it is far brighter because he passed through it. It is a duty to publicly recognize and judiciously praise the virtues of good citizens. But, in addition to the duty of confession and recognition there is the privilege of learning and of instruction. Every truly effective and helpful life is a book from which to read. If we are wise we will seek to know the principles which have actuated men who have lived well. The value of the scriptural biographer is not that they tell us of faultless lives, but that as we read we discover to us the strong faith, the holy purpose and the sterling character of those who are wedded to duty, to righteousness, to noble achievement."

"As we are gathered to day to pay respect to the memory of the one who stood for years as a patriarch of the people, there is an opportunity to learn. The one question of the hour is, What instruction does this fruitful life minister? Many lessons are suggested, of which they who have known him intimately and for a long period might speak more lucidly.

"The city press has set forth in excellent outline the salient points in Brother Knowles' honorable career. You are there told something of his ancestry. When and where he was born, when and of whom he learned his trade, how he abandoned that trade and embarked in business which proved to be the tide that led on to fortune. While such statistics and facts are significant they do not give us the full measure of such a life as our brother lived ere God took him. We have not expressed such a life when we repeat the dates of birth, marriage, business enterprises and death. If one has truly lived, the finest and divinest part of his life is unseen, unknown to the world."

"In the erection of that temple he began well. When a boy of 13 years he felt the pressure of religious duty. He heard the call of God and dedicated himself to Christian living. That Isaac W. Knowles laid at the very basis of his life-temple Christian business integrity does not admit of a doubt, for if the surest test of integrity is the actual life, then Brother Knowles was an honest man. If I may judge by strong words from his own lips and by the universal testimony of those closely identified with

Appreciate.

George Mackey, the well known cornetist of Manley's band, has taken out letters patent on an invention, known as an air tube in a cornet, which will afford clearer and more satisfactory musical notes on a cornet, and makes the matter of playing and blowing such an instrument much easier. The scale can be run more distinctly and higher notes are possible also under the new invention.

The improvement is one which has long been a study with Mr. Mackey, and he has at last perfected the idea, and will have the instrument manufactured and placed on the market, and it will undoubtedly be eagerly sought for by cornetists and musicians all over the country. Especially is the new tube desirable in sounding "C" note, which can be done without the operation of the two valves which shuts off a good deal of the air in passage through the tube, and a clear, sweet higher "C" note is also possible.

Mr. Mackey has devoted considerable time to his invention before he perfected it. He is a musician of more than ordinary ability, and his new idea is bound to meet with favor throughout the entire country.

Doped and robbed was the experience of Simon Hought, the janitor at the city hall, last night, according to his statement. It was while under the influence of the dope that he was arrested by Officer Woods in the vicinity of Thompson place. His head was expanded beyond its normal size this morning, when taken before the mayor. The mayor told him that he hated very much to fine an employee, but he could see no way out of it. Hought's wife was present at the hearing and said that she would pay the fine of $1 and costs for her husband, but would never do so again.

The mayor recommended that Simon drink no more booze, but that gentlemen insisted that spirituous liquors only would stay well on his stomach.

Robert Waters, for resisting Officer Woods, and James Beazel, for being drunk, were fined $1 and costs each.

A LIVE QUESTION IS THE CODE ISSUE

What Legislation East Liver-

And Receive Their Instructions—Hon.
R. W. Taylor Discusses the Question—Likes Governor Nash's Home Rule Ideas.

The municipal code question, important to all Ohio towns and cities, is being much discussed in East Liverpool at Present. Should the bill now being drafted by Governor Nash become a law, East Liverpool will be the only city in Columbiana county, and will have registration laws and all laws applicable to other cities.

Senator C. C. Connell, interviewed at Lisbon, today, said he was desirous of learning what the people of this city desire in the way of legislation to secure good government. As soon as he received a draft of Governor Nash's bill, he would be glad to meet the citizens of East Liverpool at any time and place to be designated, get their views, and do his best toward securing the desired legislation. The idea is favored by several prominent citizens, and it is quite likely the senator will be invited to come here and exchange views at a public meeting.

Hon. Robert W. Taylor, of Lisbon, arrived in the city last evening for the purpose of attending the funeral of Isaac W. Knowles.

When questioned upon the political outlook in the nation he said that it was bright for the Republicans. "I confidently look for the election of a Republican congress the coming fall," said he. "The people are in no humor for a change, are satisfied with existing prosperity and want to see it continued. They have not forgotten the dark days that followed the election of the last Democratic congress."

Speaking of a congressman's life and experiences, Mr. Taylor remarked that congress had a singular effect upon some of its members. For instance, a man who may have been distinguished as a brilliant orator and a pushing, energetic citizen at home, may enter the halls of the national legislature and never be heard from afterward.

"I know several gentlemen, distinguished as local orators and brilliant campaigners who seldom make a speech in congress, and rarely open their mouths except to vote on any question. On the other hand, men who have been noted at home for diffidence frequently push to the front and make themselves conspicuous in congress."

Asked as to the work of the legislature in the coming extra session Mr. Taylor remarked:

"The legislature is confronted by difficult and important questions, and I am inclined to think that its session is likely to be a long one."

"The question of municipal government in Ohio cities certainly presents great and grave problems. It is a matter, however, which attracts little attention in small towns, and I have not given much thought to the questions presented. Governor Nash is doing heroic work, and the best of his ideas and sentiments and those of his advisers will probably be engrafted upon the code bill when it is enacted. I strongly approve of his position, as I understand it, that the police of our cities should be removed as far as possible from the sphere of politics."

"In county offices and for mayors of cities it is generally better to have Republicans than Democrats, for the reason that the Republican party generally puts up better men than the Democrats. But, when it comes to police appointments, men should be chosen without regard to their political affiliations and solely with regard to their fitness. The police are merely the physical arm of the law. To be respected they must have but one object, to preserve order and do their duty fearlessly. The farther the control of the police of a city can be removed from politics the better for the public interests and protection."

"I believe strongly in home rule for municipalities and trust that the legislature will do its best to frame laws that will apply throughout Ohio and rid the state of pernicious special legislation enacted for partisan ends."

Such Work has been Going on For

With the charge of larceny against him, Harry Golding, late of the exposition carnival company, which disbanded in this city during the week of the Fourth of July, was introduced to Mayor Davidson, this morning by Officer Aufderheide.

The officer arrested the young man at 9 o'clock a. m., after waiting three hours for the chance, and it was with an exultant gleam darting from his eyes that he walked into the court with his prisoner and claimed evidence to convict.

"I caught him in the very act," said the corpulent policeman. "I have been employed for several years as watchman at the plant of the Specialty Glass company, and not until recently was there anything disturbed about the plant. Yesterday I noticed that some things had been removed, and decided to institute a watch. This morning I went down to the place at 6 o'clock, and was there only a few minutes when I saw Golding and a partner approach with a horse and wagon."

"Wishing to catch them red handed, I allowed them to load the wagon, and then started after them. One of them ran away, but Golding stayed on the wagon. The wagon was heavily loaded, and I did not have much trouble in apprehending him."

John Manor, president of the company, was sent for, and he preferred a charge of larceny against Golding, swearing that he had stolen iron fixtures to the value of $28. The value of the junk was really more than assessed, but Mr. Manor stated he did not want the young man sent to the penitentiary, and only wanted to use him as an example.

To the charge Golding pleaded not guilty, and he was placed under a $50 bond for his appearance at 2 o'clock next Monday afternoon. He did not deny having the iron in his possession, but denied having stolen it, claiming that he bought it from a young man with a smooth face and reddish hair. Golding asked for another arraignment this afternoon and pleaded guilty to the charge. He was fined $10 and costs.

Laborers on Account of Prevailing Sickness.

The three alleys at the rear of Sixth street and between Market and Broadway are now paved and present a very respectable appearance. The work was done through the efforts and at the expense of the abutting property owners. Contractor Ryan, who did the work, states that since the order of council was issued making it compulsory that those notified pave their sidewalks he and all of the rest of the contractors have had more work than they can attend to.

"If we could get more help," said he, "we would be in a better shape to handle the fast increasing orders. We never have the same crew at work two days in succession. We never know who is going to appear for work. It seems that they are attacked with a sickness which is prevalent. Most of them complain of stomach trouble, and I suppose it is due to drinking water when they are warm."

A physician corroborates the statement in regard to the sickness. He said that there is more sickness in the city at the present time than he ever knew before at this time of the year. He also credited it to the drinking of water.

GROCER'S TEAM'S DASH

Ended at the Wharfboat in Wreck and Other Damage.

The delivery team belonging to George Mayhew, the Fourth street grocer, ran away on Market street at noon today, the horses taking fright while the driver, Edward Rose, was absent delivering goods. They started at breakneck speed down Market street, turned the corner at Second street, and continued their flight up that thoroughfare, causing great excitement to on-lookers.

Down over the Broadway wharf they flew, and finally brought up against the wharfboat, breaking the forward part of the wagon, pole, and losing one of the wheels. One of the horses, which was a fine team of blacks, was badly bruised and injured, and both horses were with difficulty gotten out of the water.

Had it not been that the wharfboat was directly in their path, both animals would have been drowned. As it is the damage is considerable.

A CONDUCTOR FILES CHARGES AGAINST A PASSENGER.

Get Arrested For
His Actions.

When apprehended William Frey will have an opportunity to answer to the mayor for his alleged actions on a street car last night enroute to this city from Wellsville. The car was in charge of Conductor D. A. Woodward and Motorman Elwood Clager.

Woodward filed a charge this morning against Frey of disorderly conduct and using profane language. He was arrested by Officer Dunn when the car reached Union street, but was released owing to the fact that there was no written charge against him.

The conductor stated that Frey, with a lady and gentleman friend, boarded the car at Third street, Wellsville, and that from the time they placed their feet on the steps until Frey was arrested, all acted in a most disgraceful manner.

"The woman," he said, "was drunk, and acted disgracefully, and her friends were not far behind."

Frey, it was alleged, after swearing, howling and hooting loud enough to be heard a mile, finally made an attack on the motorman, attempting to get a hold on the controller to run the car to suit himself. He also rang up several fares. At Union street Woodward threw him to the ground, and he had difficulty in pulling himself together. The mayor has heard of many similar occurrences of late, and intends to give all such offenders the full extent of the law.

OUT THE BOULEVARD

Building Operations Are Brisk—Many
Going Up.

Thompson boulevard is enjoying quite a building boom as a number of fine residences are building, and quite a number of others are in contemplation. W. H. Vordrey is grading his lot next to J. C. Thompson's place, and will erect a fine new residence. J. C. Fulton has completely remodeled and modernized the old Armstrong homestead, on the extension of Thompson boulevard out the Calcutta road.

Willis Gaston's new residence is making fine progress in Matthew Anderson's addition, and the foundation for the new palatial home of Prof. W. L. Thompson is building, and a great deal of material for the structure is now on the ground.

MRS. M'KINLEY'S THANKS

Liverpool People.

Citizens of this city will remember the token of sympathy displayed in a floral offering that was sent to Canton last fall a few days before President McKinley was buried. Some may have forgotten this fact, but Mrs. M'Kinley did not. Yesterday there was received in this city by William Ralph Scraggs a letter, written upon mourning paper, as follows:

"Mrs. McKinley and the members of the president's family gratefully acknowledge your sympathy with them in their bereavement so tenderly expressed by your beautiful tribute of flowers on the occasion of his funeral."

The letter was mailed at Washington, D. C., Tuesday.

FATAL ENDING SEEMED SURE

COLLIDED WITH A BOX CAR

James McMillen Had Shoulder
Dislocated and Was Otherwise Hurt.

BURIED BENEATH DEBRIS.

James McMillen, a teamster living on Lincoln avenue, had a most thrilling experience and narrow escape from death this morning at about 10 o'clock.

He was driving his team down Walnut street with a load of casks, which were to be shipped by the Burford Pottery company, when the horses became frightened near Fourth street and started on an awful run down the steep hill. In vain he pulled and tugged at the bits in the mouths of the frenzied animals, and was again thwarted when he attempted to apply the big lock. For a reason not known it failed to work. With this drawback the horses could not have checked the wagon had they so desired.

Notwithstanding that McMillen could see nothing but death or destruction staring him in the face, he would not desert the team, which incidentally, it is said, he loves better than himself, but held on tightly to the reins, fighting against fate. Gaining in speed from the first jump, the horses and wagon were splitting the air like unto a runaway locomotive, when the bottom of the hill was reached and there was nothing for the driver to do but sit and take the worst.

When the freight station was reached he attempted, by pulling heroically on one line, to swerve the wagon's course, but to no avail. Like a shot the horses passed, and before the spectators, a hundred or more having assembled all along, were able to make a prediction, the horses and wagon crashed into a heavy box car and with the result that the driver and horses were badly injured, and the front part of the wagon smashed into smithereens.

Following the crash loud moans were heard coming from the midst of the debris and as was expected, several who ran to the scene, found McMillen tightly crushed between the car and wagon. He was extricated, but not without the use of bars, and taken at once to the station.

Dr. W. J. Taylor made a thorough examination of the man's wounds, finding that he had received a terrible blow on the neck; that his right arm was dislocated; his breast severely bruised and torn and that his forehead was cut but not seriously.

After replacing the shoulder and giving other treatment the physician ordered that the sufferer be taken to his home in the patrol wagon, where he now lies suffering awfully but with hopes of recovery.

TO AMUSE CHILDREN

Mrs. Jacobs Explains in Justice's Court
Why She Carried a Hatchet.

Squire McLane's court presented a business appearance today. The case of the state against Mrs. Henry Jacobs occasioned the assemblage of a large crowd and the testimony offered was exceedingly entertaining. Mrs. Jacobs strongly denied that she had threatened any one's life and stated that she only carried the hatchet to amuse the children with it. She alleged that all of her neighbors have been treating her shamefully and stated that if the law would not do something with them she would.

At 3 o'clock the case was still on and the result cannot be ascertained until late this evening.

Hurt By a Fall.

M. K. Carroll, employed at the Wallace & Chetwynd pottery, this morning fell from a scaffold about the new decorating kiln. A portion of the scaffold also fell, striking Carroll on the right leg. The flesh just above the knee was torn considerably and the attention of a physician was required. Carroll was removed to his home on Pennsylvania avenue in the ambulance.

THEIR CONFIDENCE WAS MISPLACED

That invincible aggregation of ball players who hail from the hills of West Virginia, in close proximity to Parkersburg, met a Waterloo yesterday afternoon in West End park.

Having experienced so little trouble in doing Manager Walsh's men at the last meet, about five weeks ago, the visitors went into the game with the self-assurance that they would have a walkover. They even boasted before the game was called of what easy marks they were going to mix with; of how they would have two more victories to add to their already long list. A different song floated on the warm air last night from their hotel room.

It was all done in one inning. The first was enough. Five big runs. They looked to the visitors like a range of the Appalachian system. What could they do after such a lead was gained? As far as victory was concerned, they never even entertained such a thought. All they endeavored to do was to hold the score down in order that a crowd might be present at today's contest.

Myers, their crack pitcher, went in the air for the first time during the season. Hundred pound weights would have had little effect on him. The manner in which he twisted himself when Coleman came to the bat caused an uneasy spell among the locals, and they were a trifle more on the anxious seat when the young man laid his stick over the plate after striking savagely at the vacant air three times. The spell was broken for good, though, when Davis went forward and placed a two-bagger far into right field. Tyson, Fred Heckathorn and Gibson following it with pretty bumps, the game was up.

The villain was in their hands at last. But to make matters worse the poor twirler, who has probably been the recipient of more bouquets than any other man on either team, having won every game that he pitched, even from the Cuban Giants, stepped a notch higher on the ladder and gave the next man his base on four wild ones. The succeeding two ambulated on "fielders' choice," and the scoring was not ended until five dots marked the scorer's book.

At only one time did the far-away youths have a measly chance. That was in the fifth. They lacked out three runs of leaving the score tied and started out as if they meant business, but only for a minute. Winters' curves and his excellent backing were too much for them. They were compelled to lie down and call it a lost cause.

Notwithstanding that Myers went so high in the beginning he did as well as could be expected during the remainder of the battle, and it is an assured fact that he will not get his release before the team returns "down yander."

Fred Heckathorn was the ladies' man in the game with Kent, but he is now taking a back seat. He has turned his position over to Mr. Trainor, if you please. That gentleman was the whole cheese. Running for several hundred yards he fell down in making a grab for one of those skyscrapers. When he finally got himself from a tangle in the horse weeds he had the ball in his mits and that cinched the laurels. He didn't show much embarrassment either when the lassies applauded him. In fact, he acted as though he rather liked it.

Winters pitched a beautiful game. It was the same kind that he always delivers. He has pitched more winning games than any man on the team.

NO NEGLIGENCE

In Miss Steele's Case According to the Township Trustees' Statement.

Regarding the illness of Miss Minnie Steele, the township trustees deny that there was any negligence. Mr. Albright stated this morning that they first heard of the case on Tuesday evening, and gave it immediate attention. On Wednesday they found a place for her and had her removed and placed in a nurse's care. He also stated that she had medical attention just as soon as the trustees were notified, and that the reports to the contrary were circulated evidently by some person prejudiced or misinformed.

James Bloor, at whose home the young lady lived, denies that she had no medical attention for eight days. He said today:

"Miss Steele did not complain of being sick until Friday the 25th of July, and on Saturday morning, before going to work, I sent for Dr. Ogden, who prescribed for her. On Sunday and Monday she was some better; On Tuesday when I went home to dinner she was much worse. I immediately sent for the doctor, who stated she would require constant attention, which I could not furnish, for I have no wife and five children. I furnished a nurse for her Tuesday night, and the next day she was removed. It was utterly impossible for me to attend to the case.

"I came to the conclusion that the best thing that I could do under the circumstances was to notify the township trustees, which I did on Tuesday night. They visited the patient on Wednesday morning, and the township trustees removed Miss Steele about noon. Miss Steele had all the attention that I and the neighbors could give her."

DELAYED A MONTH

Government Engineer Returns for a Long Overdue Express Package.

J. A. Caldwell, chief of the geological surveying corps which was located in East Liverpool for some weeks, returned to the city last evening, and states that his corps is now working in the vicinity of Brownsville and Charleroi, Pa. Mr. Caldwell's visit was for the purpose of securing an express package which should have arrived at the Adams Express office in this city four or five weeks ago, and as the package contains some valuable government data, he is considerably exercised over its non-arrival.

This is the third trip Mr. Caldwell has made to East Liverpool for the package and each time has been disappointed. Of course the delay must be somewhere else. There could be nothing wrong with the express service in this city.

EAST END

GREAT IMPROVEMENTS

IN THE EAST END.

Numerous Flagstone Pavements Laid.

Ohio avenue in the East End gives promise of being one of the most beautiful streets in that section within the next few years. There is not another street in that part of the city that is being built up more rapidly. During the past week excavating was commenced on this street for the erection of a large brick home for George Smith, a salesman for Knowles', and it is estimated that when completed it will cost $8,000. This residence will be of brick, of a colonial architecture and will be quite an addition to the East End.

During the past six months a number of new residences have been built on this street, all of which are above the ordinary sort of homes that are being built about the city. The work of beautifying this street, which a few years ago, was nothing but a farm, will continue with the constructing of a flagstone sidewalk the entire length of the street. A number of property owners have had these sidewalks placed in front of their residences within the past month, and it is announced that others will do the same. This will make Ohio avenue the only street in the city, the entire length of which contains a flagstone sidewalk.

Mr. Harker was the first to have flagstone placed in front of his property, and then Elijah Mountford followed suit. Walter Supplee and George Smith and other property owners will also place this sort of a sidewalk in front of their property. These little details tend to beautify a street, and Ohio avenue will soon be a thoroughfare of which its residents can well be proud.

PRIZE RING RULES

Adopted By East End Men to Settle a Dispute Over a Game of Pool.

A fight, under the rules governing contests for which paid admission is asked, took place in the East End last evening just outside the corporate limits, which was for blood, and blood came. The fight was most fierce, blow after blow being struck, so it is claimed by those who said they witnessed the affair. The trouble was brought about in an East End pool room when Robert House and Joe Miller became involved in an argument about a game of pool. One word brought on another and these words brought on a fight, and a fight to the finish it was.

It was agreed that the men should not strike one another while clinched, or when a man was down, and these rules were strenuously lived up to.

The number of rounds the men fought are not given, but the report that has been circulated about the affair by those who are reported to have seen the "doings" say the men did not fight just for the fun of the matter. After the battle was over, and in which House is reported to have been the vanquished, the spectators and the fighters returned to the East End. The affair was the talk of the East End this morning.

With William Humble, of this city in charge, it was loaded at Akron Thursday evening for shipment to this city, and did not arrive here until last evening. The train on which the horse was shipped was wrecked during the trip, and the three cars in the rear of the one in which Robert L. was quartered were smashed. The animal was knocked down, but luckily escaped serious injury. The horse will be kept at Columbian park during the remainder of the season.

A STRONG, VIGOROUS MAN

Is Liable to Break Down—Pe-ru-na is Sure to Restore.

Hon. Frank Dunn, Alderman Twenty-Fourth District, writes from 232 East Fifty-Eighth Street, New York City:
The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.:

Gentlemen: "There is no remedy for a broken-down system that I know of which will so effectually restore health as Peruna.

"Whenever I am overworked or suffer from the consequences of a cold a few doses of Peruna builds me up again more quickly than anything I ever tried. I find it especially valuable for catarrh.
Three bottles cured me three years ago of catarrh of the stomach and I have never had the least symptoms of it since."

Very truly,
FRANK DUNN, Alderman 24th Dist., N. Y. City.

ATONIC is a medicine that gives tone to some part of the system. There are different kinds of tonics, but the tonic most needed in this country, where catarrh is so prevalent, is a tonic that operates on the mucous membranes.

Peruna is a tonic to the mucous membranes of the whole body. It gives tone to the capillary circulation which constitutes these delicate membranes.

Peruna is a specific in its operation upon the mucous membrane. It is a tonic that strikes at the root of all catarrhal affections. It gives tone to the minute blood vessels and the terminal nerve fibres. Catarrh cannot exist long where Peruna is used intelligently.
Peruna seeks out catarrh in all the hidden parts of the body.

Paul Landrum writing from Atlanta,
Ga., says:

"In January last I began the use of your Peruna and Manalin for what was termed organic heart trouble. At that time I could scarcely walk to my place of business without stopping to rest and on arrival felt completely exhausted.
Had severe pains in my heart and general dizziness. After using the first bottle of Peruna I began to improve and today I feel that I am a sound man and I work fourteen hours a day without any bad feeling."—Paul Landrum.

A. M. Ikard, an employee of the C. B.
& Q. R. R., West Burlington, Ia., writes:
"I had catarrh of the stomach and small intestines for a number of years.
I went to a number of doctors and got no relief. Finally one of my doctors sent me to Chicago and I met the same fate. They said they could do nothing for me, that I had cancer of the stomach and there was no cure. I almost thought the same, for my breath was something awful. I could hardly stand it, it was so offensive. I could not eat anything without great misery, and I gradually grew worse.

"Finally I got one of your books, and concluded I would try Peruna, and thank God, I found a relief and a cure for that dreadful disease. I took five bottles of Peruna and two of Manalin, and I now feel like a new man. There is nothing better than Peruna, and I keep a bottle in my house all the time."—A. M. Ikard.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

The centennial anniversary of the admission of Ohio into the union comes next year. Preparations are being made to celebrate the event at Chillicothe, which was the state's first capital. The centennial will probably not be the imposing affair that was contemplated a few years ago when a huge appropriation and a small sized world's fair were contemplated. But the occasion can be made great and memorable without these show features. To let the anniversary pass without suitable public observance would be discreditable to the oldest and greatest of the states northwest of the Ohio, the mother of presidents, statesmen, warriors, patriots, poets, scientists and men distinguished in every walk of life. It is proposed to celebrate the anniversary in the public schools on March 1, 1903, and to have a centennial commission, appointed by the governor, act in conjunction with the state Archeological and Historical society to arrange for the more formal and elaborate exercises at Chillicothe. This indicates that the event is to be commemorated in the way most fitting by placing historical features foremost. Ohio has made history on a scale which few sections of the union can match, and she has sons capable of writing history that shall live in literature. The coming centennial should be productive of written accounts of the state's struggles and triumphs that are fit to survive and serve as text books for coming generations. No American should consider himself educated unless familiar with the history of his own country and his own state. If the coming centennial proves an incentive to historical research and fosters a desire among the young people who live in Ohio to learn of the past and to study the lives of the men who have made the state great and have left their impress upon the nation, it will serve an admirable purpose. Effort in this line should at once be put forth and not relaxed, and the centennial may result in far more actual benefit than should we seek to advertise its birthday anniversary by an imposing exposition.

One Democratic state convention after another turns its back on Bryan. In time he may come to understand what it all means, though he is usually too busy talking to do much thinking.

Democrats are not boasting so loudly as usual that they are going to carry New York next fall. Their lack of confidence in such a result is shown by the fact that they are experiencing difficulty in finding anybody willing to accept a nomination for governor.

Baldwin, the arctic explorer, has returned from the north, saying his work has been successful. But he got no nearer the pole than former explorers.

Indications multiply that there is warm work ahead for the legislature, without counting weather conditions.

Wait till Bryan recovers his wind after hearing that Michigan Democrats named a gold bug for governor!

Prosperity has overtaken all classes. Even pickpockets are now traveling on Pullman cars.

Richard Croker is developing the habit of retiring from politics between campaigns.

William L. Clark.

The last illness of William L. Clark, the veteran editor of Wellsville, terminated in a peaceful death at 4 o'clock last evening at his home on Main street. Nearly all his living relatives were present when death came. The immediate cause of death was paralysis. William L. Clark spent most of his life in Wellsville. He was born March 22, 1814, at Snow Hill, near Baltimore, and spent his early life there. He was imbued with the spirit of the south, and never faltered in his sympathy for that section. While in Maryland he learned the printers' trade, and his proficiency soon led him to journalism. In those days a knowledge of the stick and case and the manipulation of a hand press was essential to an editor. Mr. Clark had mastered these, and was gifted with literary talent.

Upon his removal to Wellsville in 1832, Mr. Clark worked at his trade, and contributed his literary productions to the Pittsburg newspapers. In 1845 he acquired the American Patriot, Wellsville's first newspaper, and continued its publication for nearly a quarter of a century. The name of this paper was changed to Wellsville Patriot after he purchased it. It soon became widely known. His fearless editorials, all for the Confederacy, during '61 and '62, provoked the enmity of many, but all admired his courage. A company of soldiers at Salineville, home on a furlough, had heard of Mr. Clark's political views, and started for Wellsville bent on mischief. A circus was exhibiting in the city on that day, and Mr. Clark, armed only with a bundle of tickets, met the soldiers and presented each with a ticket. He was unmolested.

In 1865 Mr. Clark ceased the publication of the Patriot, and since that time, having lived a life of frugality, amassed a snug fortune, he retired from active business. He visited Maryland for a few years, and since that time has lived in this city. He has seen Wellsville develop from a struggling river town to a prosperous city. Few of his old associates here and few of his relatives survive him. The funeral services will take place Monday morning from his late home, Rev. Le-moine C. Wells officiating.

RIVER NOTES.

Fogs have delayed the river steamers considerably the past few nights. The Virginia up last night put off a good many passengers at this point. She also had a big round trip list of passengers.

There is no falling off in the big passenger business of the steamers, which has been noted not only in East Liverpool, but in many of the cities skirting the Ohio. With a continuance of water through August it is expected there would be the greatest amount of travel of this kind ever known. River outings have never been so popular.

A POET'S NOTIONS

About Base Ball, Potteries And Other Current Topics in East Liverpool.

The editor of the Kent Courier, who visited this city with the Kent ball team last week, has many kindly things to say of East Liverpool in his paper. He also drops into poetry, specimens of which follow:

There's a lovely, bustling town, East Liverpool.
With potteries scattered all around, East Liverpool.
Hills and water all are there, Pottery dust gets in your hair,
But your umpire's on the square, East Liverpool.

You've got boys who play the game, East Liverpool.
And they help to bring you fame, East Liverpool.
There's Curt Welsh, who's gone away, Carey and Mercer of today,
And there's others, by the way, East Liverpool.

They've potteries, potteries everywhere,
With pottery dust to make you swear.
It sticks on your shoes and it sticks in your hair,
It gets in your eyes and I do declare—
It comes to the table in broad daylight,
And sneaks in your bed at middle of night.

Those pottery hills they reach up a mile,
You'd think if you tried to climb one awhile.
But those hills are filled with pottery clay,
And that's the reason they're 'lowed to stay.

They've pottery artists and potter cranks,
Pottery cigars 'way up in the ranks.
Pottery hotels and places to eat,
Pottery shoes to wear on your feet.
Pottery papers with pottery news,
Pottery experts with pottery views.
Pottery whisky as rank as sin,
Pottery jalls to lock you in,
Pottery pavement straight up and down.

Pottery streets that curve around,
Pottery cars that potter along,
Pottery stogies awfully strong,
Pottery steamers that downward float,
And every kind of a pottery boat,
A pottery river all covered with fog,
Pottery wreckage to throw at the dog,
Pottery girls all over the place,
With winsome smiles and handsome face.
Pottery reporters that hustle you bet,
Pottery water that's hardly wet,
Pottery drinks that give you a pain,
And make you wish you were in Kent again.
Pottery ball players not all tame,
Pottery players who get in the game,
Pottery rosters who sit on the hills,
And let the management settle the bills.
Pottery people who treated us right,
And made our stay one grand delight,
Base ball people reach out glad hand,
No finer than Walsh, Rose or Orr in the land.
May the win all the rest of the games they play,
Unless they meet Kent again some day.
East Liverpool we'll never forget,
Nor Livardport Terry, of the Lakel, you bet.
Old town at the meeting of river and hill,
You have your faults, but you're all right still.

MAD DOG KILLED

An Animal Frothing at the Mouth
Slaughtered By Chief Thorn.

Chief Thorn killed a supposed mad dog yesterday. The animal seemingly had been turned out in the streets to die, rather than be muzzled, and exhibited his displeasure by growling and snapping at passersby.

When found near the Mission church the dog was frothing at the mouth and showed other indications of going mad. Chief Thorn shot the animal, which was buried at the city's expense.

Jumped the Track.

The regular Saturday wreck on the Pennsylvania lines took place, as have many others, in Wellsville. Engine 238, the erratic shifter which is only slightly behind 693 in her exploits, jumped the track with two dngola cars near the steel mill boiler house. No one was injured and no damage done. The tool car and crane soon replaced the cars on the track.

Street Poorly Lighted.

John Smith, a milkman, was driving home last evening and near Sixth and Main streets, where a deep ditch has been dug across the street, his horse fell in the ditch. The struggles of the animal brought a large crowd to the scene. Lanterns were secured and the animal was extricated from its position. The ditch, residents verily say, should be lighted better.

Badly Cut His Leg.

G. A. Ashby, of Portland, O., a railroad man, had his leg badly cut while handling freight at the Third street depot last evening. A large quantity of sheet steel was being transferred from a store room to an eastbound freight, and in attempting to carry too heavy a load, Ashby's left leg was cut near the knee with a deep gash.

Tired But Happy.

The young people who attended the Sunday school picnic at Stanton Park, near Steubenville, yesterday, returned last evening tired and happy. Only one thing marred the complete pleasure of the day's outing, and this, those who attended say, was the condition of the park grounds.

Presents Neat Appearance.

The entire Wellsville wrecking outfit at the railroad shops is now resplendent in a new coat of red paint, which was applied yesterday. The cars present a neat appearance, being lettered with white in the new style.

A BLOODY BATTLE.

COLOMBIAN TROOPS AND REBELS ENGAGED.

Truce to Bury Dead, Rebels Having About 200 Killed—Fighting Resumed

Panama, Aug. 2.—The peace commissioners who left here July 29, on the British steamer Cana, to visit the revolutionary General Herrera, near Agua Dulce, returned to Panama at noon yesterday. They informed the representative of the Associated Press that they were unable to fulfill their mission, because a very severe engagement between Herrera's forces and the government troops had been in progress since Tuesday, July 29, when the revolutionary forces began to attack Agua Dulce.

At 5 o'clock Thursday morning the best battalions of the revolutionary forces attacked the government entrenchments with fierce courage. The slaughter of the revolutionists is said to have been excessive and barbarous. The same afternoon the white flag was raised in their camp and they asked for an armistice, during which they could bury their dead. This was granted. The losses of the rebels up to Wednesday, July 30, were reported at over 200, while the government forces had had eight men killed and 11 wounded.

At the expiration of the time of armistice the engagement recommenced with the same fierceness. Nine government battalions which had not taken part in the fight were still being held in reserve Thursday night.

Too True to Be Profitable.
"How about that historical novel?" asked the publisher.
"No good at all," answered the reader to whom it had been assigned. "The man doesn't understand how to write historical novels, and he hasn't perverted the truth as we know it enough to make any kind of a rumpus among the critics. His book would fall flat."—Chicago Post.

BRICK BUSINESS GOOD

New Cumberland Manufacturers Have a Season of Unprecedented Prosperity.

There never was a time in the history of the paving brick business at New Cumberland that there was such a demand. The factories are unable to supply the market, and the prices are better than for a long time. Some of the brick factories in the vicinity of New Cumberland made handsome profits last year. It is said several factories made sums ranging from $10,000 to $20,000. With the improved facilities for manufacturing and handling brick they can now be manufactured at much less cost than heretofore.

The big Corliss engine and new tunnel dryers which have just been put in at the Black Horse works will make a saving of $40 per day in fuel and labor at that plant, and those who know say the plant will clear $30,000 in a year's time. Some of the small factories along the bend wound up last year's business with profits ranging from $10,000 to $15,000.

CONDITION NOW SERIOUS

The Lad Who Was Bitten By a Snake
Is Critically Ill.

Donald Allison, son of Ellsworth Allison, who resides near Asbury chapel, is reported worse this morning from the bite of the copperhead snake. His father was summoned from his work at the mill last night on account of his condition, which is now quite serious.

Hancock County Picnic.

It is expected the Hancock county picnic will be held about the 6th of September. This picnic in the past has been one of the greatest events in the county. Last year a big crowd was in attendance and the occasion was pronounced by all present as a most delightful gathering. It is the occasion for a reunion of relatives and friends. Many people come from a distance to meet friends.

Replevin Suit Begun.

T. R. Cunningham, of Chester, had a replevin suit instituted against Allan G. Meek, a painter, who formerly resided in Cunningham's house on Fairview street. Mr. Cunningham held a chattel mortgage on his household goods, and he is alleged to have moved to East Liverpool in the night. The suit will probably be heard before Squire Johnston.

Pastor Has Returned.

Rev. Herbert M. Carnahan, who has been visiting his mother at Williams town, opposite Marietta, for two weeks, the latter being quite ill, returned home today and will occupy his pulpit tomorrow at the M. E. church. Rev. Mr. Carnahan's brother Earl has passed a successful examination and will enter the United States navy.

Change in Business.

Stephen M. Severs has sold his Carolina butcher shop to John D. Stewart and son Thomas, of near Chester, who will assume charge Monday morning. Mr. Severs has not decided where he will locate as yet. His friends will regret his departure from Chester. H. S. Plankton will remain with the new firm.

Extensive Improvements.

E. D. Marshall has beautified his fine residence on the river front by a number of improvements, which add to its architectural beauty. A new and spacious porch and a fine bath room have been added and many other improvements made at a cost of $2,500. Harvey McHenry took the contract for $1,900, but extra additions were made.

Good Wheat Crop.

Hay harvesting is about completed in the county districts, and the oats are about ready for cutting. The wheat harvest throughout Hancock and Beaver counties was reported most excellent. The potato crop was also most bountiful and corn will prove plentiful.

Today's Picnic.

The American Structural Iron and Bridgeworkers, of Pittsburgh, came in on two special trains this morning on the branch. They have a fine program of special sports. The throng is quite orderly, both at the park and in the city.

Will Test the Territory.

Rev. Joseph Little, formerly of Wellsville, but now of Indianapolis, Ind., has a large block of oil leases at Mechanicsburg, nine miles back of Chester, and will put down a number of wells this summer.

A Good Well.

In the Turkeyfoot extension in Beaver county, Murray & Co. have completed their No. 5 on the Joseph Ramsey farm and have a show for a 2-barrel producer.

New Trial Reported Granted.
It is stated by a New Cumberland authority that E. S. Good has been granted a new trial by the circuit court of appeals at Wheeling, in the first case brought by the state against him, and for which he is now under $400 bond for his appearance and a 60 days in jail sentence pending.

A New Wildcat Well.

R. E. Bradon and others have contracted with Campbell Hutson to drill a well on the John Cameron farm. It looks as though that farm might be good territory. The well will be drilled at once.

A Broken Roll.

A roll was broken on No. 6 mill last night, Ora Griffith being the blooming mill roller in charge. Repairs were made this morning and the mill will resume Monday.

CUMMINS WILL INVESTIGATE.

Iowa Governor to Look Into Law Regarding Rock Island Organization.

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 2.—Governor Cummins announced yesterday that he is investigating the recent reorganization of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway with a view of ascertaining whether the organization is in all respects in harmony with the laws of the state of Iowa. He has not yet conferred with the attorney general, but will do so as soon as the attorney general returns to the city. Governor Cummins stated yesterday that the first question he is inquiring into is as to whether the inflation of capital stock which is contemplated by the reorganization is consistent with the Iowa law. In the second place he desires to know just how far it is lawful for a New Jersey corporation to own and control the property of a railway owned and operated in Iowa. He has not reached a conclusion on either of these questions, and declares that he means to give them a thorough investigation before he decides what his duty toward the new company may be under the premises.

"It may be," he stated, "that the Iowa laws contemplate as much latitude as this company has used, but I doubt it very much."

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

STRUCK POPULAR CHORD.

The News Review has received an interesting communication, which indicates that the residents of this city who take an interest in matters ceramic appreciate the pottery news of this paper. The letter follows: "Your article on an art pottery for East Liverpool was an excellent one, inasmuch as it created quite a good deal of interest. The one objection given is: 'Oh, it has been tried, and does not pay.' Now the honest opinion of the general reader is that if as much attention were given to its success as is allotted to scheme, we would not have to complain of failure. The trouble here is that returns are too quickly desired. If an order comes in all hands are rushed to death until such commission is sent off. You cannot do that with art pottery or the art suffers; as, indeed is too often the case today. Manufacturers already do not give the perfection of detail sufficient attention. Getting the orders away should not be the only item in the bill.

"A small pottery across the river is an exception to this rule, and really seems to have a good many of the elements necessary to the success of an art pottery. It does not profess to produce this ware, of course, but it is generally conceded that for perfection of detail, courtesy to employees and a desire to excel in every branch of the work, this little place would be hard to beat. One great complaint seems to lie in the low prices our manufacturers get for their goods. Surely the remedy for this should be in their own hands. The ruinous system of travelers being allowed to go one lower than a fair selling price to get an order should be stopped in all our interests. A very fine imported vase was seen in an art store some time ago. The artist was known to be then in this country. When the firm owning the store were told this they asked: 'Well, why do they not produce the same article in this country?' We would give them an order for a thousand of the same shape and design. Yet we are told that home production cannot find a market in this country. Many difficulties would have to be surmounted before an art pottery here would be an accomplished fact. But the unselfish effort of those with means and the enthusiasm of those with practical art talent, would land us a little nearer the goal of our hopes than we are at present, anyhow. Your paper is always willing to help along our city's interests, so we will trust to its columns to find some further hints as to the matter opened up by your writer, to whom our thanks are indeed due.

THE MANUFACTURERS' TURN.

The intended action of the eastern officials of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters in forming new locals in Trenton seems to be most pleasing to the local manufacturers. It has long been contended by the eastern manufacturers that they are paying the same rate of wages to their employees as are paid in the western potteries, but the western manufacturers seem to have thought differently, and the announcement that boys were engaged to do the warehouse work in the Trenton potteries at a salary of from $5 to $8, bears out the thoughts of the western manufacturers. Should Vice President Hutchins be successful in forming the warehousemen and packers of Trenton into a local, he will be doing a work that has long been awaited. One result of this will be a tendency to increase the rate of wages in these departments, and if possible place the eastern shops on an equality with those of the west. In this event it can be rightly said that the eastern manufacturer is then paying the same wages to his packers and warehousemen that his western brother is. The announcement in this paper last night that the two departments were about to be formed into a local met the hearty approval of all pottery workers in this city. It is what has been looked for for months, and one may say for years. Now that it is to become a reality, the more gratifying it is.

JIGGERSMEN VS. FINISHERS.

The jiggersmen at their last meeting took up the complaint entered by the finishers to the effect that some of the jiggersmen were refusing to pay the list price. The convention authorized the jiggersmen to pay the list as prepared by the committee. At the meeting they decided the price shall be paid. This affects all shops under the jurisdiction of the Brotherhood. A counter resolution was passed a week ago, and sent to the finishers' local to the effect that hereafter all finishers shall furnish their own cutting irons, sponges files and buckets. In fact they shall furnish all tools heretofore furnished by the jiggersmen. The resolution was ignored by the finishers, they claiming it was not official, as the secretary failed to attach the seal. At the last meeting the seal was attached. What will be done with them will be watched with interest.

WORKING SLOWLY.

Work on the Dresden China company's plant at Salineville is not progressing rapidly. Lack of men is the reason assigned by those in charge of the construction. The lumber is about all on the ground except possibly three cars that will soon arrive. The roof covering the building will be a composition known as asbestos. It will take something like 25,000 square feet of window glass to light the building, besides about 40 sky lights that range from six feet square to eight and twenty-four feet long. The brick used in the building and kilns will amount to over a million. The lumber will foot up nearly 500,000 feet.

A NEW SALESMAN.

H. S. Lincoln, formerly one of the leading salesmen of the Wheeling Pottery company, has resigned and associated himself with the Dresden. He will look after Ohio, Indiana, Michigan trade. W. J. Owen, late with the J. B. Owens pottery, Zanesville, will also represent the Dresden this year, and will cover Pennsylvania and New York. President H. A. McNicol has just set out with four immense trunks of samples for New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Atlantic City. His first stop is to be at New York for one week.

TRITT'S SUCCESSOR.

Announcement is made that Mr. Barton, at present associated with the Ohio China company at East Palestine, will succeed Manager William Tritt, when he retires from the Sebring interests. Mr. Tritt has been with the Sebring brothers for almost a score of years, first at the bench and later being employed by them in an official capacity. He is reported financially interested in the new shop at Crooksville, O., and it is said that he will become general manager.

BUSINESS PROSPECTS BRIGHT.

The potteries are now working full, and bustle and activity are noted in all departments. Shipments are improving, and increasing amounts of packed ware, marked for all parts of the country, lie on the streets and in front of the packing rooms. So far only a few traveling salesmen have gone out. A good many are now setting out. The business situation is considered excellent.

READY IN SEPTEMBER.

The Sebring Pottery company has its new plant—the fourth—nearly ready for the roof in the western half of the structure. This will be two stories and be occupied by the clay department. The other foundations are practically completed, and the plant will be completed by the close of September. This shop will probably be devoted exclusively to the manufacture of vitrified goods.

IMPROVED IN HEALTH.

Ernest Mayer, of the Mayer Pottery company, of New Brighton, Pa., has been at a noted watering place for the past month, and his many friends in this city will be glad to learn that he will return today, much improved in health. Mr. Mayer is highly esteemed by the potters of the country, and his advice and counsel are prized most highly.

A NEW SAMPLE ROOM.

The Thomas China company, of Lisbon, reports the fullest activity. The company booked three cars in a single day this week. It has opened a sample room at R. Thomas' Sons electrical plant in this city in which to display complete lines.

DOING THE EAST.

Col. Will A. Rhodes has started on his fall itinerary for Knowles, Taylor & Knowles, and was in Pittsburgh this week. He will be in Philadelphia on Aug. 4 to 9, and in New York after the 11th for two weeks.

DECORATORS NEEDED.

John Allman, of Toronto, salesman for the Shenango Pottery company of New Castle, Pa., was in the city last evening, and says his pottery is badly in need of good decorators, and are now running to their fullest capacity.

MEETING.

Kilndrawers' local No. 17, will meet this evening in Brotherhood hall. Owing to the absence of a quorum no meeting was held last Saturday evening, and some very important business is to be transacted.

AGAIN IN OPERATION.

The J. B. Owens pottery at Zanesville, which was burned out in January, has been rebuilt on a more extensive plan, and is once again in full operation.

NEW SEBRING WORKER.

George White, of Peoria, Ill., is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry White, of Sebring. He may take a position in one of the shops there.

A NEW ART SHOP.

The J. B. Owens Pottery company has purchased the Corona Pottery on Long Island. A complete line of art ware will be made.

OFF DUTY.

Fred Hultz and Mark Thornberry, kilndrawers at the Taylor, Smith & Taylor pottery, are off duty from illness.

CONTRACT FOR KILNS.

Gamble & Surles have the contract for the erection of three new glost kilns at the Sebring potteries.

Mayflower's Men Desert and Some Others Desire To.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 2.—The feeling of unrest among the crew of the Mayflower, which has led to several desertions, has been brought to the attention of the president. Several days ago he received an inkling of the troubles, but supposed that the cases of dissatisfaction were sporadic and isolated. He had no idea until yesterday that the members of the crew generally were so incensed at what they regarded as ill treatment that quite half of the 141 men were ready to seize the first opportunity to leave the ship without warning. It is understood that Mr. Roosevelt will make a personal investigation of the matter, with a view, if possible, of remedying the trouble.

Miss Roosevelt Gont to Newport.

Brain Food Nonsense.

Another ridiculous food fad has been branded by the most competent authorities. They have dispelled the silly notion that one kind of food is needed for brain, another for muscles, and still another for bones. A correct diet will not only nourish a particular part of the body, but it will sustain every other part. Yet, however good your food may be, its nutriment is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You may prepare for their appearance or prevent their coming by taking regular doses of Green's August Flower, the favorite medicine of the healthy millions. A few doses aids digestion, stimulates the liver to healthy action, purifies the blood, and makes you feel buoyant and vigorous. You can get the reliable remedy at Charles F. Craig's. LIBRARY PATRONAGE

FOR JULY SHOWED AN INCREASE
OVER JUNE.

New Plan as Regards New Books.
Reading Rooms Well
Patronized.

During the month of July the Carnegie public library was open 26 days, and 2954 books were circulated, a gain of 181 books over the month of June. The largest number of books circulated in any one day was 190. One hundred and seventy-four names were registered, making the total number of borrowers 1041. Although a great many people are away for the summer the reading rooms are well patronized, the turnstile showing the visitors to have been 6534. Nine hundred and seventy-two more books were issued to grown people than children. The first person to have his borrower's card filled was Jess Hanley, showing that he had borrowed and returned 42 books between May 42 and July 26.

On account of the great demand for recent books, a plan will be instituted about the 1st of August which, it is hoped, will give general satisfaction. The popular books will be marked with a label across the front cover showing that they may be retained but seven days. Anyone desiring a book reserved for them may buy a postal card at the desk on which they write their address and name of the book desired. When the book comes in the card will be mailed. All postals left for a book will be filed by date and each person will be notified in turn.

Seventy-six volumes of bound magazines, making a fine addition to the already good collection of reference books, were received this month from the bindery where they were sent from the old library. People having magazines which date back several years, would confer a great favor if they would help fill up sets by donating their old numbers to the library. On account of the absence of several members of the board of directors from the city, the regular monthly meeting of the board was postponed.

CERTAIN RESULTS

Many a East Liverpool Citizen Knows How Sure They Are.

Nothing uncertain about the work of Doan's Kidney Pills in East Liverpool. There is plenty of positive proof of this in testimony of citizens, such evidence should convince the most skeptical doubter.

Read the following statement: Mr. Thomas Laughlin, of 172 Sophia street, engineer, says: "I caught cold and neglected it. It settled in my back and kidneys. Forced me to quit work and almost cost me my life. I could not move without suffering, and often could neither sit, stand or lie for pain. The secretions of the kidneys went wrong and distressed and annoyed me both night and day. I took medicine for ten years but did not get well. When I read of Doan's Kidney Pills I got a box at the W. & W. Pharmacy. Noticing some improvement by the time I had taken the first half of the box, I continued until I had taken four boxes and my back was all right as well as the urinary trouble. I will substantiate my statement of Doan's Kidney Pills if anyone will come to my house to investigate for themselves. My wife had some backache also; she took Doan's Kidney pills and was cured."

Sold for 50 cents per box by all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

The Perfect Light.

The illuminating question is best settled by putting in electric lights. Arc lights for large stores or street—incandescents for home or office. The advantages include perfect light, no trouble, no odor, no dirt; always ready when you want it, and the cost is not great.

THE BALANCE OF HEALTH

Is often very much against the wife. Her strength is undermined, she loses flesh and her energy and courage slowly leak away from her. Gradually the comradeship of husband and wife is broken up. At first he takes his solitary pleasures reluctantly, but later he hardly seems to remember the old days over which his wife in her weakness mourns daily.

Women who find their health failing, and womanly ailments fastening on them, should promptly begin the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It corrects irregularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well. Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I had been a great sufferer from female weakness for about two years," writes Mrs. Emma Richardson, of Gose, Wayne Co., Ky. "I could not do my work part of the time. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and felt as well as I ever did. I have also used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for ulceration of the throat with good results and half of one bottle cured my throat when I could scarcely swallow."

Ohio's Centennial Next Year.

Ohio's centennial will be celebrated at Chillicothe next year. On March 1, the exact date of the anniversary, the public schools of the state will be asked to hold celebrations. Chillicothe being the first capital it is fitting that the state celebration should be held there. A centennial commission will be appointed by the governor to work in harmony with the State Archaeological and Historical society and state and national officials will lend assistance. It is understood that White-law Reid and W. D. Howells already have consented to write poems for the occasion.

SICK MADE WELL WEAK MADE STRONG

Marvelous Elixir of Life Discovered by Famous Doctor-Scientist That Cures Every Known Ailment.

The Remedy Is Free to All Who Send Name and Address.

After years of patient study, and delving into the dusty record of the past, as well as following modern experiments in the realm of medical science, Dr. James W. Kidd, 2917 Bates Building, Fort Wayne, Indiana, makes the startling announcement that he has surely discovered the elixir of life. That he is able with the aid of a serious compound, known only to himself, produced as a result of the years he has spent in searching for this precious life-giving boon, to cure any and every disease that is known to the human body. There is no doubt of the doctor's earnestness in making his claim, for the remarkable cures that he is daily effecting seem to bear him out very strongly. His theory which he advances is one of reason and based on sound experience in a medical practice of many years. It costs nothing to try his remarkable "Elixir of Life," as he calls it, for he sends it free to anyone who is a sufferer, in sufficient quantity to test the efficacy of its ability to cure, so there is absolutely no risk to run. Some of the cures cited are very remarkable and but for reliable witnesses would hardly be credited. The lame have thrown away crutches and walked about after two or three trials of the remedy. The sick given up by home doctors, have been restored to their families and friends in perfect health. Rheumatism, neuralgia, stomach, heart, liver, kidney, blood and skin diseases and bladder troubles disappear as by magic. Headaches, backaches, nervousness, fevers, consumption, coughs, colds, asthma, catarrh, bronchitis and all affections of the throat, lungs or any vital organs are easily overcome in a space of time that is simply marvelous.

Partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, dropsy, gout, sciatica and piles are quickly and permanently removed. It purifies the entire system, blood and frame, restores normal nerve power, circulation and a state of perfect health is produced at once. To the doctor all systems are alike and equally affected by this great "Elixir of Life."

Send for a free trial. It is free to every sufferer. State what you want to be cured of and the sure remedy for it will be sent you free by return mail.

HIS MEMORY HONORED

him for many years, his honesty was not passive, but positive. He hated whatever is mean, false, tricky in business in work, in character.

"Brother Knowles was possessed of admirable poise of mental powers. I have never heard that the breath of suspicion touched his manly honor. He was sound to the core. He was not the embodiment of one virtue developed in excess; or rather, he was not so impoverished in moral virtues as to cause one noble trait of character to stand out so prominently as to absorb the attention of the beholder. The impression he made upon me was this: His life was gentle, and the elements so mixed in him, that nature might stand up and say to all the world, 'This was a man.'

"He betrayed no man; he was a man who had the courage of his convictions, although not given to their ostentatious proclamation. When his heart was touched he was as tender and cautious as a woman. He was cordial, kind and considerate in the treatment of his employees. His knowledge was exact and extensive. Every good cause had his sympathy and support. His benevolence was large, but concealed from the public gaze. His love for his church and his Savior was deep and genuine.

"No star goes down but climbs in other skies.

The rose of russet folds its glory up,
To burst again from out the heart of dawn.

And love is never lost, tho' hearts run waste,
And sorrow makes the chastened heart a sear,
The deepest dark reveals the starriest hope.

And faith can trust her heaven behind the veil."

"Peace, peace, come away the song of woe,
Is after all an earthly song; peace, peace, come away.
We do him wrong to sing so sadly. Let us go."

After prayer the quartet rendered the selection, "Some Time We'll Understand."

The services concluded, an opportunity was given for a farewell gaze upon the beloved features of Mr. Knowles, and that it was appreciated was evidenced by the hundreds who availed themselves of it. On the evening previous also a continuous line of people kept passing from 7:30 to 10 o'clock.

The floral offerings, testifying to love and appreciation of throngs of friends, were numerous and beautiful beyond description. Among many others was a magnificent vase which stood fully six feet high, constructed of white and purple astors, and tied with an immense bow of tulle and purple ribbon on which were the words: "In token of respect." This was the gift of the employees of the K. T. & K. pottery.

A very large wreath of astors and pink and white medallias, resting on a pedestal of other flowers was a gift of the employees of the Potters' Supply company, while another handsome piece was a gift of the workmen of the E. M. Knowles China company, of Chester. It was a broken column entwined with a wreath of white roses, and having large bunches of roses and lilies at the four corners. Quite a large bunch of Ascension lilies was sent by the office and traveling men of the K. T. & K. pottery.

Still another beautiful and appropriate token of respect was a huge pottery kiln, made of purple and white astors, roses, lilies and carnations. The piece stood probably more than six feet high and four feet broad at the base. This was the gift of the manufacturing potters of the city. It was too broad for the house, but rested on the porch, where it attracted much attention.

ISAAC W. KNOWLES

HIS MANY EXCELLENT TRAITS OF CHARACTER.

One of God's Own Noblemen—A Man Who Set a Worthy Example.

The following tribute to the memory of the late Isaac W. Knowles was written by an employee and associate of the deceased:

Today we laid to rest in a beautiful spot in Riverview cemetery all that is mortal of Isaac Watts Knowles, there to await a glorious awakening in the resurrection morning. While it is always a cause for weeping when our loved ones are taken away, yet we must all at last grapple with the grim monster, and when the earthly career of such a character as that of Mr. Knowles closes, there is a great satisfaction in calling to mind his beneficent life and noble influence. And who can measure the scope of his influence?

From a small beginning he not only kept pace with, but led off in the commendable desire of many in those early days to make East Liverpool the important center which it has now become. Long ago, in his beautiful poem, "Keramaos," must have had in mind such an one as he when he wrote: "Thus sang the potter at his task, beneath the blossoming Hawthorne tree."

Turn, turn, my wheel! turn round and round.

Without a pause, without a sound:
So spins the flying world away!
This clay, well mixed with marl and sand,

Follows the motion of my hand;
For some must follow and some command.

Though all are made of clay."

It was the good fortune of Mr.

Knowles to be placed in a position where he could command, and it was of even greater importance to the city that he was in that position. Many individuals here and elsewhere owe to Mr. Knowles the thought and inspiration which prompted them to take the right step at the right time to bring about success. He was a man whose advice on matters of various phases of public interest was eagerly sought, because of his recognized prudence and sagacity. He was easily approached and entered into the minutest details of the affairs of those who sought his aid and counsel.

Mr. Knowles had a great delight in his intercourse with young people and would romp and play with them, much to their delight and satisfaction. In the matter of beneficence and general helpfulness to worthy objects, Mr. Knowles was one of God's own noblemen, always ready with an open purse and a sympathetic heart to respond to the appeals of the needy. But, while such responses were generous and frequent, Mr. Knowles was always reluctant to have his benefactions noised abroad. He was quiet in his manner and modest to a high degree. In all his characteristics his life was in every way worthy of emulation.

"Turn, turn, my wheel! what is begun At daybreak must at dark be done,

Tomorrow will be another day;
Tomorrow the hot furnace flame

Will search the heart and try the frame

And stamp with honor or with shame
These vessels made of clay."

And truly it may be said that the stamp of the Great Potter upon the life of Mr. Knowles is one of honor and approval, and there can be no question that the heavenly portals will open wide and the plaudits will be uttered, "Well done, good and faithful servant; enter thou into the joys of thy Lord."
